British First Army Blasts Way Forward

Nazis Driven From Strategic Positions In Northern Tunisia Area

TERRIFIC FIGHTING DEVELOPS IN HILLS

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, April 23.—Britain's First Army in Northern Tunisia smashed forward today in terrific battles in the Bou Arada sector and ousted the Nazis for several strategic positions.

In the air Allied aircraft made a clean sweep against a fleet of 20 German transport planes. All 20 were destroyed along with 10 escorting fighter planes when they were caught over the Gulf of Tunis by American Warhawks and Spitfires. Eight other enemy planes were destroyed in different actions, bringing the total day's bag to 38.

First Army Advances

The First Army, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson began its march after Nazi Col. Gen. Dietloff Von Arnim had been repulsed in a futile counter-attack in the Medjez-El-Bab area.

All initial objectives were taken in the face of vigorous opposition," said a communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. "Fighting continues."

The British Eighth Army to the south, battling furiously against Nazi forces attempting to hold the Enfidaville defense line, drove back the Germans and inflicted considerable new losses on the enemy troops.

"All our gains are firmly held," the communique reported.

Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel sent his Afrika Korps charging at the British in the Enfidaville area in renewed strong counter-attacks but came out the loser after suffering heavy casualties.

U.S. Seeking To Blast Jap Front-Line Bases

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 23—American aerial blows in the Pacific today were aimed at knocking out or neutralizing Japan's front-line bases which could be used by the enemy for offensive or defensive purposes.

This was the interpretation placed by many navy men on America's recent smashing bombing attacks against the Nipponese on Kiska in the North Pacific and Nauru in the South Pacific.

Presence of the Japs on Kiska not only serves as a threat to American airfields in the Aleutians but also prevents the United States from utilizing facilities there to strike at the enemy's bases in the Kuriles northeast of Japan.

Base Is Menace

In connection with the recent U. S. bombing raid on Jap-held Nauru Island, 675 miles northeast of Guadalcanal, navy men pointed out that this base is a menace to the American communications lines to Australia and guards one of the gateways to the main Jap base at Truk.

These sources asserted that Jap reconnaissance planes from Nauru could sweep a wide circle in search

Twenty Two Day Rooms At Shenango Army Camp Equipped By Women Here

There is more to an army camp than merely barracks, drill grounds, obstacle courses and rifle ranges. There is the recreational side of the camp which is partially provided for by the military authorities and partially by the civilian population. Chapels are built, theatres are built, athletic fields are laid out recreational or day rooms are put up but the little touches that make the places attractive usually come from the civilian population.

So it is with the Shenango Replacement Depot at Transfer. The furnishing of the day rooms has been a job for the women of the various cities in the area and in this job the women of New Castle, organized under the Bundles For America group have done a job that has won the admiration of the camp authorities and the envy of the women in other cities.

1490 Pieces Of Furniture

New Castle's chapter of the Bundles for America has furnished 22 of the day rooms in the camp at Transfer, and in the furnishing of them has done an outstanding piece of work. Tables, chairs, pianos, radios, victrolas, davenports, ash trays and book cases, all of them have come from New Castle for the

U. S. BOMBERS DESTROYED 63 NAZI PLANES

Record Is Made In Attack Recently On Focke-Wulf Plant Near Bremen

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 23. — United States heavy bombers destroyed the record number of 63 enemy fighting planes in an unescorted raid on the Focke-Wulf aircraft plant near Bremen last Saturday, the European theatre of operations headquarters announced today.

This figure excludes a number of other enemy fighters probably destroyed.

The former record for enemy planes destroyed by unescorted bombers in a single undertaking was 52 German craft certainly disposed of on March 18, when flying forresses raided the U-boat yards at Vegesack.

Expect To Open U. S. O. Thursday

Soldiers Service Center On Public Square Is Nearing Completion

Unless something unforeseen prevents, the United Service Organization headquarters in the Wallace block on the public square will open on Thursday evening, April 29, it was announced today by Dr. G. S. Bennett, president of the U. S. O. here.

Opening the headquarters there will be a short ceremony from 7:45 to 8:30 at which it is hoped Col. G. H. Cherrington, commander of the Shenango Replacement Depot at Transfer and Captain M. O. Brock, Special Services Officer will attend.

The USO headquarters will be roomy and fitted out with various recreational equipment. The headquarters are the double store room one door removed from Jefferson street on the northwest corner of Washington and Jefferson streets. In the back end of the first floor there is a balcony which is suitable for writing tables. In the basement there is a large room which can be used for dancing.

For several weeks committees of the USO have been working and workmen have been remodelling and cleaning the quarters. Chairs and divans will be installed, along with games, card tables and a juke box. A directory of the various churches, theaters, fraternal orders, night clubs and other information will be posted upon the wall.

Although the rooms are spacious they are not large enough to accommodate a huge crowd which might wish to attend the opening and for this reason the attendance must be restricted. Following the opening ceremonies, the headquarters will be open for public inspection Thursday night, April 29, from 8:30 to 10:30.

Nazis Hurl Repeated Waves Of Troops At Great Loss In Black Sea Area

NAZI ATTACKS ARE REPORTED REPULSED

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 23.—With apparent disregard for the lives of hundreds of its men, the German high command today sent repeated waves of Nazi troops against the Red army forces closing in on the Black sea naval base of Novorossisk.

Red army headquarters reported the Germans were being cut down in droves in each futile attempt to crack the Soviet lines in the Kuban valley of the Caucasus.

Repulse Attacks

In its noon communique the high command said that on one sector the Germans launched three separate attacks, all of which were repulsed at a cost to the Nazis of 300 men. An additional 200 were slain when two battalions stormed the Russian positions. The Germans retreated in disorder in the face of heavy artillery and mortar fire from Soviet guns.

Earlier the high command had reported that the Germans lost more hundreds of dead in vain assaults. The toll of Nazis mounted hourly as the Soviet air force hammered persistently at enemy troops concentrations and military targets.

Russians Penetrate

Jap Dominated Island Occupied By U. S. Forces

Japs Driven From Invasion Bases In Ellice Island Group

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The navy disclosed today that American forces have occupied at least one island in the Jap dominated Ellice group in the South Pacific.

The revelation was made when the navy reported that Jap bombers raided Funafuti "U. S. occupied position in the Ellice Island group."

No details were offered by the navy beyond the bare announcement of the enemy raid but it was known that the Japanese previously were in this area, indicating that a U. S. invasion force seized one or more bases there.

"During the early morning (April 22 a group of enemy bombers raided Funafuti. U. S. occupied position in the Ellice Island group," the Navy said. "Light casualties to personel were suffered and minor damage was inflicted."

The Ellice group is directly north of the Fijis and southwest of Canton Island, an important American base on the sea route to Australia.

A naval spokesman said that the American occupation of Funafuti was "unopposed".

While it was known that the Japs previously had moved into the Ellice group of Australian mandated islands, it was presumed that they were there in small numbers.

The last previous mention by the Navy of this war theater was on October 24, when the disclosure was made that American warships had raided the Ellice Islands, damaging an enemy destroyer and one merchant ship by gunfire.

The jury reached its verdict after nearly a day and a half of deliberation.

Jap Threats Are No Intimidation To Yank Fliers

American Airmen Eager To Join Next Squadron To Blast Tokyo

AIM TO AVENGE MURDER OF FLIERS

By CLINTON GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 23—Comrades of the American fliers put to death by the Japs after last year's raid on Tokyo vowed today that they would blast the Nipponese empire unmercifully at the first opportunity.

Men now in North Africa under command of Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, leader of the April 18, 1942, assault on military objectives in Japan, all clamored for a chance to return as soon as possible to the skies over Tokyo.

Will Attack Again

Bitter and resentful following the disclosure by President Roosevelt that fellow fliers who were forced down over Japan had been murdered, they found some solace in the promise of Gen. Doolittle that United States bombers shortly will be over Tokyo again.

Gen. Doolittle called for heavy blows to strike directly at the heart of Japan to avenge the barbarity which he declared had left him with a feeling of loathing and resentment.

"Soon our bombers will be there again," Gen. Doolittle said.

He promised that new bombardments of the Nipponese Islands will not be on the limited scale of the initial assault.

Devastating Attacks

They will be devastating attacks that will continue without let-up until "the Japanese Empire crumbles and they beg for mercy."

"While the exact total of the fraudulent claims has not been determined," Attorney General Biddle declared, "the estimated sum is between $100,000 and $200,000."

New Scrap Drive Is Announced

Will Take Place In City And County During Next Week

You can get your scrap ready for another drive. Dates have been set for the drive in New Castle and Lawrence county and after the success of other scrap drives here, this one will be streamlined.

May 1 has been set as the day for the drive in New Castle, with the following Monday, May 3 set as the day for collecting the scrap from business houses. In the county three days has been set for the scrap drive, April 29, April 30 and May 1.

Plans have been made to have the scrap collected from the homes in New Castle on the one day, May 1. Citizens are asked to have their scrap out on the curbs early that morning and trucks will pick it up. The scrap donations are to be voluntary, and money derived from the sale of the scrap will go for use among service men in New Castle.

In the county and the boros, pools will be established at various points and because most of this scrap will be heavy scrap from farms the money from the county sales will be prorated among those who furnish the scrap.

Steel, iron, zinc, copper, lead or bronze, rubber and aluminum, all of them are needed for the mills turning out war materials. It would be a good idea to begin to sort out your scrap now.

Two Districts Pass Bond Goal

Ellwood City And Volant Have Exceeded Goal In Second War Loan

NEW CASTLE LAGS AT PRESENT TIME

Two Lawrence county districts have exceeded their second war loan quota, it was announced today in the Greater New Castle Association offices, headquarters of the campaign. Volant was the first district to go over and Ellwood City followed shortly after. Volant now has reported $67,331.25 and Ellwood City $585,286.50 and both districts are still going strong.

In the case of Volant it was merely history repeating itself. In October 1918, in the third Liberty Loan, Volant filled its quota in the first 20 minutes of the drive. In those days the bonds were merely subscribed for and payment made later. In this drive the bonds must be paid for before they are counted.

Capt. Joe Foss Seeks Chance To Plaster Tokyo

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23 — Back from Guadalcanal as America's top-ranking air ace, Capt. Joe Foss of the Marines today said he would like to visit Tokyo to avenge the Army airmen who were executed for bombing Japan.

Asked his reaction to news of the executions, the hero who is credited officially with shooting down 26 Jap planes, told reporters:

"I'd like to pay a visit to Tokyo and we'd have a short talk about it."

A reporter asked Foss if he now would like to "take a crack" at the Nazi fliers and he replied that he would go wherever he was sent.

Foss emphasized the fact that American pilots in the Pacific are not interested in running up a record score but were concentrating on defeating the Japs.

"The pilots who hasn't shot down one plane but who goes into the sky and protects his leaders rates higher than the guy with a big score," Foss said.

Twenty Giant Air Transports Are Shot Down

Allied Airmen Get Every Transport In Formation Over Sicilian Straits

TEN ESCORTING PLANES DESTROYED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, April 23.—An entire formation of 20 gigantic, lumbering six-engined German transport planes en route to Tunisia with reinforcements of gasoline and personnel was shot out of the skies by Allied airmen today.

With them to destruction went an escort of 10 German and Italian fighter planes. Eight other Axis aircraft were destroyed in separate actions, bringing the day's total to 38.

Beautiful Targets

This great new air victory was announced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters coincident with a smashing by the British First army in the Bou Arada sector of northern Tunisia, in which Nazi forces were dislodged from several strategic positions.

The six-engined transports were beautiful targets for swift P-40s taken into action against them by British, Australian and South African fliers. With their great wingspread and tremendous weight they can do only 175 miles an hour and are "sitting ducks" for any fast Allied fighters that get within range.

But equally vulnerable was the escort which had been provided. This consisted of eight German Messerschmitt 109s, one of the rarely seen Italian RF-200ls, and a single Italian Macchi 202.

All went roaring or blazing into the Sicilian straits.

Lasted Few Minutes

The battle in the sky lasted only five to 10 minutes but is considered one of the outsanding victories of the campaign.

Loaded with gasoline, the transports burned fiercel for a long period after crashing to destruction. Enemy troops who were trapped in the big ships were seen to climb out and struggle desperately in the water in their attempts to escape.

When sighted the big formation of transports were flying close to the water with a massed enemy escort protecting them from above.

How the battle developed was told graphically in conversations among the Allied pilots recorded at the airfield radio. Thus, one exultant pilot:

"There! There's three of the blighters left. Has anybody got any more ammunition?"

And when that last trio was polished off, an Allied pilot among the last to leave the scene, said he could see nothing but patches of burning oil scattered on the surface of the sea.

POTATOES SEIZED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—"Spuds" were scheduled to make their reappearance on Fort Dix menus today, following the seizure of a 45,000-pound carload in Philadelphia by federal agents.

The vegetables were transported to Fort Dix at once, where the soldiers have been without potatoes for over a week. The consignee, a Philadelphia wholesaler, was paid by the army at the ceiling price.

Arthur Mometer

It's almost peaceful from shore to shore, no whine of bombers, no cannon's roar, no grim faced men grimed with battle's stain, no tanks a-surging again and again. And yet Good Friday across the world, sees the battles on and the flags unfurled, the marching feet of the Martian clan, makes us wonder when peace will come back again. But over here, there is peace of a kind, no fighting perhaps but no peace of mind, as we look abroad at the man-made fray, we wonder, it's sixty-four today.

New Guinea Again Target

Allied Fliers Heavily Damage Enemy Positions In Nassau Bay Area

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 23.—Allied fliers heavily damaged Jap installations in a strong sweep against enemy positions on islands and villages in the Nassau Bay area of New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The raid was made by both medium bombers and attack planes. Among the targets were the Jap-occupied islands of Daulia and Lababia.

Jap artillery emplacements on the outskirts of Nubia, also on New Guinea, were blasted by a single heavy Allied bomber.

Other Allied craft meanwhile ranged across the Arafura sea to strike at targets in the Tenimber and Aru islands. In the Tenimber group a medium bomber dropped high explosives on the village of Wailoetoe on Saumlaki Island and strafed the area with machine-gun fire. The enemy supply area at Dobo in the Aru Islands was bombed by another medium bomber.

Over Kavieng, New Ireland, a heavy Allied reconnaissance plane was intercepted by four Jap Zero fighters but successfully warded off the enemy ships in a running battle over a distance of 150 miles.

U. S. SEEKING TO BLAST JAP FRONT-LINE BASES

of possible American Pacific fleet task forces or to pave the way for an enemy thrust against the U. S. base on Canton Island.

Military and navel observers for some time have warned that the Japs might attempt to disrupt American offensive plans by invading a base like Canton or some other point which is needed to speed U. S. planes and other war materials to the south and southwest Pacific.

Need Powerful Armada

Such a thrust would have to be made by a powerful armada of warships and transports and reconnaissance planes from Nauru could serves as the "eyes" of such a force to make sure no American warships were in the vicinity.

Likewise planes from Nauru undoubtedly scan a large area around the island to make sure no American task force attempts to slip through the sea corridor north of the Solomons for a blow at Truk, key to Japan's war effort in the mid-Pacific.

Developments of the past few weeks indicated that both sides were sparring for an opening through which to strike at each other's key bases.

Such blows would bring into action once more powerful units of the American and Japanese Pacific fleets which have seen little action since the mid-November battle off Guadalcanal in which the enemy suffered a crushing defeat.

TWENTY-TWO DAY ROOMS AT SHENANGO EQUIPPED BY WOMEN

22 day rooms and the last truck load of the furniture has gone to Transfer.

The story back of the assembling of the furniture is a story of hard work, sacrifice, and patriotism. Bundles for America is an army of local women all of whom cannot be named but two of them who could rate as generals can be named. The idea was first suggested by Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson. Mrs. George G. Stitzinger associated herself with the work and these two ladies have handled the assembling and shipping of the furniture.

Figures are rather dry as a rule but you really should know what has been included in the furniture sent to Transfer Thirty four pianos, tuned and in good condition were sent up. Twenty-two radios were sent, 24 victrolas, 67 davenports, softs, settees and couches, 174 easy chairs, 102 tables, large and small, 500 straight chairs, 42 floor and tables lamps, 5 magazine racks, 6 pictures, 6 waste paper baskets, 72 sofa pillows, 270 ash trays, 35 slumber robes for davenports, 18 card tables, 5 writing desks, 2 book cases, 6 seats or benches, 4 humidors, 3 stools and 3 pool tables.

That's a heap of furniture and every bit of it came from New Castle or the environs in the county. All of it is now in use in the day rooms at Transfer and all of it is appreciated. In addition there were hundreds of victrola records, games, books, magazines and coat hangers.

Perhaps you sent down some chairs, a radio or a table to the Bundles For America. If you did, they were first put into good repair, painted if necessary, covered, if necessary and sent up to Transfer.

Bundles for America can be proud of its fine work in furnishing the 22 day rooms. Through their work the men in the camp will have comfortable accommodations for the day rooms in their leisure hours.

JAP THREATS ARE NO INTIMIDATION TO YANK FLIERS

He voiced the hope that he himself and all of the other men who came through the 1942 raid safely would be able to go on the next sortie against Japan.

"If we are so fortunate," he said with determination, "we will drop each bomb in memory of our murdered comrades.

"Our bombs will not miss their mark."

Here to battle against the Nazis and Italians in the final drive to oust the Axis from North Africa, Gen. Doolittle made it clear that it was as much the job of himself and the United States air forces to defeat the Japanese nation—"and everything her war lords stand for, utterly and completely."

Jap Threats Useless

He scoffed at the Jap psychology in believing that their threats to execute any other fliers brought down in Nippon might intimidate the Americans.

"It only renews our determination to do our job promptly and thoroughly," he said.

"We do not seek revenge but we do want to have a fighting part in correcting a situation that threatens everything we hold dear."

Major Rodney R. Wilder, of Taylor, Tex., said that the disclosure of Nippon's barbarity should make the American people realize the nature of the Oriental foe.

"They should all dedicate themselves to even greater efforts to support the war aims of our government," he declared.

"The day will come when these atrocities will be avenged, and I hope I am among the avengers," said Capt. Howard A. Sessler of Arlington, Mass.

BRITISH FIRST ARMY BLASTS WAY FORWARD

ed in the Tuesday night battle between Medjez-El-Bab and Goubellat to 33.

"It is now confirmed," it was said, "that the number of enemy tanks knocked out in the fighting on the 20th and 21st of April was 33."

(In fighting of "extraordinary ferocity," said the Algiers radio in a broadcast recorded by Reuter's, the Eighth Army beat off a third counter-attack and resumed its offensive. Heavy casualties were suffered by the enemy as the British advanced, it was said.

(The First Army has taken the initiative, said the Algiers station.)

Air action by the Allies was intense. American and British fliers hammered mightily at enemy troop formtaions and bases.

Another fleet of 20 Axis transport planes was caught over the Guf of Tunis and all 20 and 10 escorting planes were shot down by American P-40 Warhawks covered by Spitfires.

Bombers Attack

"In a day of intensive activity," said the communique, "medium and light bombers and fighter-bombers of the tactical air force, with fighter escorts, carried out heavy and continuous attacks on enemy troops and positions. During the course of these operations seven enemy aircraft were destroyed.

"P-40 Warhawks and Spitfires on patrol in the Gulf of Tunis encountered a formation of 20 Messerschmitt 323 transport aircraft escorted by fighters. During the combat which followed all 20 of the Me-323's and 10 of their escorting fighters were shot down.

"Medium bombers of the strategic air force made attacks on enemy airfields in Tunisia and on shipping and harbor installations at Carloforte in Sardinia. At the airfields bombs were seen to burst among aircraft on the ground, and at Carloforte the target was well covered with bomb bursts and fires were started. One enemy aircraft was destroyed in combat during these raids.

"Five of our aircraft are missing from all these operations."

Fight At Close Range

In the fighting along the Enfidaville line Gen. Sir. Bernard L. Montgomery's force into Rommel's Afrika Korps at close range to knock out Axis gun emplacements in the hills for a forward movement of armored units.

Methodically the British, spearheaded by daring Indian waring warriors, pushed ahead across the hills now running red with the blood of troops locked in mortal combat, slashing at their opponents with bayonet points.

Gen. Montgomery's artillery batteries to the rear and Allied bomber and fighter planes lent their weight to the carange as the advanced troops sought a weak spot in Rommel's fortifications through which the Eighth Army's armored forces can advance.

The British charged the Nazi hill positions with fixed bayonets, hurling hand-grenades before them to blast machine-gun nests buried in the rocks.

Chute Troops Active

Headquarters disclosed that British parachute troops now are taking an active part in the final campaign to rid the Axis from North Africa but it was not revealed whether they are operating along the entire front or on only the most vital sectors.

The heaviest fighting in the Enfidaville region appeared to be taking place in the Takrouna area where the British have forced a wedge into the Afrika Korps positions a few miles northwest of the town of Enfidaville.

Takrouna itself was taken early Wednesday after a bitter all-night fight.

Front dispatches said that German machine-gun and mortar units, many dug in at the entrance to caves, contested every foot of ground before yielding to the pressure of the Eighth Army.

Using tommy-guns, knives and bayonets, the British at one point forced a group of Germans to the edge of a precipice from where the Nazis were hurled into an olive grove hundreds of feet below.

In the counter-blow against Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's First Army around Medjez-El-Bab the Germans made temporary gains which were entirely wiped out when the British retaliated in strength.

The attempt to check the First Army's tightening grip cost Von Arnim heavily in casualties. He lost 27 of the estimated 60 to 80 tanks used in the drive and the First Army took some 500 prisoners.

BROTHER GIVEN HONOR

Captain Howard Burhanna, Jr., of Philadelphia, who was recently awarded a Distinguished Flying Cross for distinguished achievement while participating in a successful aerial attack, is a brother of Mrs. A. W. Garren, 302 Fairmont avenue, this city.

Capt. Burhanna was the pilot of an army bomber which caught and sank a German submarine in the Caribbean Sea several months ago, according to a recent navy report.

Capt. Wayne King Organizing Bands At Shenango Camp

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, April 23.—Captain Wayne King, orchestra leader of note, now serving with the Army Special Services Branch, has arrived for duty at nearby Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot, and after several days of work in conjunction with Captain Maxcie O. Brock, Special Services Officer, declared: "In terms of morale and welfare, Shenango Depot is in a position to fulfill a unique role as a soldiers' camp, by and for soldiers. I believe that Shenango is on its way toward becoming the most desirable post in the country, from the soldiers' standpoint."

The former orchestra leader is organizing recreational programs, including music, but admits he has been too busy to take the baton since serving with the Sixth Service Command and in Washington.

Captain King is helping organize two military bands at Shenango Depot—one a 28-piece band, and a smaller unit composed of colored troops, many of them professional musicians, in uniform. In addition, athletic activities and morale building recreation is receiving his attention.

MERCER HOSPITAL'S HOUSE DOCTOR LEAVES

(Special To The News)

MERCER, April 23.—The Mercer Cottage hospital has joined the ranks of the many institutions carrying on with a below-average staff.

Dr. Ruth V. Hemmingway, house doctor, has resigned and is on her way to her home in Massachusetts. Dr. Hemmingway, a former medical missionary to China, plans to return to her church activities.

TWO DISTRICTS PASS BOND GOAL

being reported. This is still over a million dollars short of the quota. New Wilmington reports $73,288, Bessemer $57,041.25 and Wampum, $32,462.50. The grand total reported today at noon is given as $3,460,973.75.

The effects of the bond drive in the Shenango Pottery on Wednesday were announced today although not completely. In the sale of bonds, $13,000 is reported. In the pay roll deduction plan, those in charge of the compiling of the deductions believe that the plant has come up from about 55 per cent to 90 per cent. If the plant shows 90 per cent or more of employes enrolled in the pay roll deduction of 10 per cent, the plant will be entitled to a Minute Man flag.

With Volant and Ellwood City already at quota or better, and Bessemer and New Wilmington just short of the goal, New Castle and Wampum are the only two districts left that need some spurting to reach the goal.

Determined to put New Castle over, John J. Maher, city chairman, has issued a call for some sleeve rolling and shoe leathering in the next few days. When the drive closes in this county it is hoped the total of $5,250,000 will be passed.

To build a live town, first find a few men who are able to get enthusiastic about things.

THE DOLLARS THAT COUNT MOST

HEADS of the local campaign in support of the Second War Loan drive, serve a timely reminder of where the responsibility rests for achieving Lawrence county's full quota without further delay.

It is squarely up to individuals, not the banks or other large financial institutions. The figures thus far cited tell one side of the story. They represent largely the big subscriptions which had been already assured.

The real test of the success of this drive to sell bonds for victory will be, as Secretary Morgenthau has said, the response of the average citizen to his country's call.

It is his money that counts most because it counts double. Every dollar he lends the Government in its emergency will help not only to win the war, but to win the battle on the home front against ruinous inflation.

This is the crucial week that will show whether we Lawrence countians and all the American people are alert to the double peril confronting the nation and alive to the responsibility and duty of every one of us.

WAR INVENTIONS

Not all of the thousands of new devices which have been perfected as a result of the war are derived from problems presented on the field of battle. The airplane has brought devastation to the doorstep of the civilian far behind the front, and the civilian mind is busying itself with inventions to assure greater safety against bombs hurtling from the clouds.

Three men in New York state have patented a scheme for removing an unexploded time bomb. This is a frame of steel plates set edgewise around a chamber enclosed in a cage of interwoven steel cables.

If the imprisoned bomb lets go, this arrangement allows the gases of the explosion to escape and at the same time prevents damage from flying splinters. The cage is loaded on a truck or trailer with a wide, sloping shield between it and the driver while he transports his cargo of death to the dumping grounds.

POST-WAR AUTOMOBILES

Light has been shed on a matter in which there has been widespread speculation—the changes to be presented in the post-war motor car.

Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors, tells the company's dealers that the first post-war cars will approximate the 1942 models, and that changes to come thereafter are more likely to be evolutionary than revolutionary.

But this does not mean that after war production has been converted to automobiles, evolution will not set in vigorously to incorporate in the American automobile such of the technological advances of the war as are found to be practicable. It was thus in 1919.

Huge production of aluminum and development of stronger alloy steels point to lighter automobile material at lower cost. Progress in plastic unquestionably will have a part in creation of the new car. Decrease in weight will be sought minus accompanying decrease in strength.

High octane fuels, available in quantity after the war, will affect automotive design which, in Mr. Sloan's opinion, may also be influenced by development of synthetic rubber destined to be available in large quantities.

CONFUSING PUBLIC ON RUBBER

Net result of the row between Rubber Administrator William Jeffers and OWI Director Elmer Davis over the state of the nation's rubber program is to aggravate the confusion already muddling the public's mind.

Both officials protest that their only desire is to present a true picture, while differing violently with each other as to whose views are really correct. For all the bewildered people know, there may be a third viewpoint, different from the other two and more accurate than either.

Mr. Jeffers, a strong-minded man, believes he is capable of informing the public on the progress of synthetic rubber without the aid of the OWI. Mr. Davis points out that rubber is not excepted from his office's jurisdiction.

So many varying figures on rubber have been put forth from time to time that two more conflicting statements will not, of course, come as much of a shock.

But the controversy between two figures as important as Mr. Jeffers and Mr. Davis is not helping matters. They ought to get together and come out, for a big change, with a single factual report that everyone can agree with and no one misunderstand.

WAR BOOM-DEE-AY

Few persons, even among those who never watch the big board, will be surprised to learn that the first quarter of 1943 saw amazing activity on the New York Stock Exchange. The doldrums of the thirties have been replaced by enthusiasm for investment which threatens to become a major boom.

Even in the early days of the world conflict, rising quotations on "war babies" had sympathetic reaction on many related stocks. But by the beginning of this year the war had taken such a turn in favor of the Allies that Wall Street turned somersaults. There have been days when trading exceeded 2,000,000 shares.

Nevertheless, a major financial boom is definitely what this country doesn't want. It has had enough of the big ups and bigger downs. Liveliness and a bull market are one thing. A spree of speculation in issues that keep going up beyond their real value is something else.

That conservative traders are worried lest the present trend may get out of hand is demonstrated by a recent action of the New York Stock and Curb exchanges in ordering a change in the margin rules. From now on, purchases of all securities selling below certain levels must be made in cash.

The reason is that in the heavy trading low-priced issues are the big favorites. In most cases, these are speculative issues. It doesn't take much of a change in conditions to split their value in half, or double it. As a brake, the ban on margin buying may do some good by diverting some of the investment money into sounder channels.

Even though the upward trend in stock prices may continue through the year, experts foresee salutary setbacks now and then. These checkreins should remind the investing public that not all beautifully printed stock certificates are as precious as they appear to be.

The trouble with "fighting France" is too many prima donnas.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DANGER IN READING TOO FAST

You have probably been reading some articles and books which have led you to believe you should encourage your child to read rapidly; that if he does not learn to read very rapidly, he will be handicapped in school and all through his life.

I hope you are not led astray by this doctrine. Rapid reading may be of great convenience for reading many articles and books of light fiction; but it is a positive hindrance, as a rule, to careful reflective reading and mastering of facts.

Even if your chief concern is to get the plot of a story, you could easily do that by reading a review of it. Unless one has a very keen mind, no one can gain so much from style and diction by reading fast as by reading at ordinary speed, or by reading aloud.

The brief writings of Abraham Lincoln are among our classic. He read aloud a great deal in his childhood and youth, even when grown. Indeed, his law partner used to complain that Lincoln's reading aloud in the office often bothered him.

Reading And Understanding

Our main concern as parents and teachers is that the child shall, in addition to gaining effectiveness of expression, learn to understand what he reads, and be able to turn each paragraph he reads into his own words. In order to do this with a textbook in history, geography or general science, he will have to read it carefully and reflectively. Often he will need to go back and reread certain phrases and sentences, and check on their meaning in terms of what he has already read or learned. Parents and teachers do well when they often read slowly from a textbook to the child (say of the fifth or sixth grade) and have him read, explain and summarize as he reads.

Two Reading Habits

Talk to a college teacher of any science course and he will tell you that he has many students who have never learned to read carefully and reflectively, that many of them will race and skim through a chapter of a science textbook as if it were a book of light fiction, and have just about as little in their heads from it.

It is possible, of course, to develop two habit-systems of reading—one for fiction and one for factual or other serious reading. Although most modern fiction hardly warrants much time for absorbing its literary patterns, the classics of the ages certainly do. Indeed, the youth who wishes to acquire facility and force in clear speech and writing, can afford to read aloud, over and over again, certain English selections that have stood the test of time.

The World and the Mud Puddles

MACARTHUR'S POSITION

It is just possible that the publicity given to General MacArthur's appeal; particularly, for air aid in the Southern Pacific is a bit of propaganda intended to deceive the Japanese. It is difficult to reconcile the stories that come out of the Solomon-New Guinea area concerning the activity of our air forces there with the story of very inadequate war planes for use by the Army, the Navy and the Marines in and about Coral Sea. There is no question as to what caused the collapse of our resistance to the Japanese forces in the Philippines. General MacArthur had neither sufficient men or material to defeat the Japanese at Bataan and it is possible that the War and Navy Departments of the nation are not doing the right thing by our forces in the Southern Pacific.

Secretary Stimson had it said that adequate reinforcements were on their way and this statement by Stimson indicates that General MacArthur's appeal was and is not real propaganda.

The people of this county are watching Douglas MacArthur and if Washington believes it can discourage this hero worshipping by ignoring MacArthur's call for help, somebody is going to get a pretty severe jolt in the future.

The national newspapers have suggested that Douglass MacArthur would be good material for the presidency of this country, but MacArthur has said that he has no political ambition whatsoever. Nevertheless, stories are circulated that President Roosevelt is jealous of MacArthur's popularity.

The President is very anxious to finish off Herr Hitler and the principal energies of the military establishment of this nation are devoted to that task. But I honestly believe that Japan is going to be a harder nut to crack than Germany.

LET THE OTHER FELLOW TALK

Everybody likes to talk to a person who is a good listener.

The chap who can listen as well as talk makes friends and achieves popularity.

Learn to listen—you'll learn many things that will help you in life.

Every person lives in his own world. He has his own daily problems, his own griefs as well as joys. He does not talk about them to everyone but he would like to talk to someone if he were sure the person was interested and sympathetic.

No, you do not have to let everyone you come in contact with bore you with their troubles, nor do you need to let them waste your time, but you must cultivate the habit of interested attentiveness.

Keep in mind that there is a time to listen and a time to talk. Do not bore your listeners with a recital of your personal problems and do not 'spout off' about things of which you know little or nothing. For instance, good subjects to avoid are religion, politics and particularly the trend of the war.

We learn by listening—not by talking.

And there will be a lot of birds who will raise the same thing this summer—you know what.

Civilization, in the last analysis, is just a slow but steady process of learning to first be considerate and then kind.

A female writer declares no man ever makes a greater mistake than when he puts himself under financial obligations to his wife. There must be some birds who do that.

It's not "Business As Usual" any more.

A woman in Beaver beat her husband up terribly with a broom when he tried to draw a revolver to shoot her. A broom is a good weapon and most women know how to use them.

She was on her way home from a first aid course when she saw a man lying prone in the middle of the sidewalk. His face was cradled on one arm; the other arm was twisted under him in a peculiar position. Without a moment's hesitation, she got down on her knees and went to work.

"Lady," said the victim after a few moments, "I don't know what you're doing, but I wish you'd quit tickling me. I'm trying to hold a lantern for this fellow down in the manhole."

When a wife keeps her husband's shoes shined it's a good sign that she wants his shoes to look nice. However, when she tells him what kind of clothes to wear he may kick.

THAT CAFE LINGO

Red, our cafe expert, ordered Indian friend spuds at a restaurant he was inspecting.

"You must mean French fried, don't you?" asked the waitress.

"No, I meant Indian friend." Red answered sternly.

"I don't know what you mean," protested the waitress. "What do Indian friend spuds look like?"

"Scalloped," Red answered.

A lot of automobile accidents are caused by the driver holding his gal in one arm and trying to drive the car with one hand.

Those who think things are bad now will have something real to worry about if Hitler wins the war. He still declares he is going to win it. Buying War Bonds will keep him from carrying out his ideas.

THE GIRL WHO IS ALWAYS LATE

"I am now very attentive to a lovely girl who is perfect in every respect except that she keeps me

waiting, sometimes a whole hour when I call for her to go out with me," a young man laments in a letter just received. If we are to meet downtown for lunch, dinner or a show, she shows the same indifference to time. How can I break her of this bad habit?" Y. M.

Answer: Inasmuch as she is "perfect" in every other respect, you are evidently willing to waste enough time to try to break her of a habit that usually proves chronic once it manifests itself.

By all means, show your displeasure, at first humorously then semi-humorously, then seriously and, at last, angrily. Girls selfish enough to thus waste a man's time are almost invariably creatures of idle leisure who while pursuing no careers of their own, have never learned the value of time to themselves or others. Those whose responsibilities require them to be at their desks promptly are the ones who most respect the time which a man's similar responsibilities allow him. Such girls are usually on the minute for engagements, social as well as professional. And this is one of the reasons why career girls are becoming more and more popular than idle girls as candidates for matrimony.

Question: How should one write on a sheet of folded writing paper—first page, second, third, fourth or first, third, second and fourth?—Mary Anna.

Answer: If the contents require the use of all four pages, you may use them in the two suggested ways or first, fourth and then opening up the sheet writing down the second and third pages. In fact, anything goes!

THE MAKINGS OF A LEADER

How can a young man attract the favorable attention of his superiors?

The man who attracts notice is the one who does his work so well that it sticks out like a sore thumb. Every man who has or has had people working for him will understand what I mean.

There are thousands of honest, sincere and industrious men in every large organization, but there are very few whose work stands out conspicuously above that of their companions.

Once in a while, however, you will find a man who not only accomplishes more himself than others do but has the faculty of energizing the men around him . . . and that man has the qualities of leadership.

Does your work stand out? Are you really interested in your occupation? If so, rest assured that somebody higher up is going to notice it and your reward will be inevitable.

But don't expect recognition if you haven't done anything to be recognized for and don't expect promotion because of one act or achievement.

It is persistent achievement that means leadership.

It seems to us we have trouble enough in time of war without having congress in session.

Relief often consists of not having a lot of things.

RIGHT OF WAY

After the train had wrecked an automobile at a crossing, a pert young woman arose from the wreckage. Uninjured she proceeded to powder her nose. The others gathered around.

"Why in blazes didn't you stop when you saw the train coming?" asked the engineer.

"But," retorted the indignant young woman defiantly, "I sounded my horn before you blew your whistle."

Some one said: "Man can do nothing more useless than worry. Worry never lifted a single burden, never solved a problem, never dried a single tear." Isn't that a honey? We are going to paste it on our desk so we can see it all day long.

A Chicago golf club gets a horse-drawn coach which seats eight passengers on the top deck and four more in the cab below. To get to and around the course now requires both a cabby and a caddy.

MYSTERY MAN

A robbery had been committed in the English village, and a detective had been sent to investigate.

"Have you seen any mysterious strangers about here lately?" asked the detective of the old villager.

"Yes, sir," replied the old man. "There was a man 'ere with the circus last week and 'e took a pair o' rabbits out o' my whiskers."

Predict China Will Be Leader Of Asia
Modern Leadership Found In Chungking
Filipinos More Western Than Eastern

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 23—China is not as modern as some, but very few, Occiental countries are, but its leadership seems to be from my observation in the last few months, if that signifies anything. It is important, too, for the Chinese are due to be the Oriental hub of the post-war world. Japan will be extinguished, of course. So it looks as if the Chinese will have to take charge of it. It will be a generation or two before Japan is civilized, anyway. As I have said before, I think the rank-and-file of the Japs are civilize-able, but it will take a goodly spell to transform them.

India, if liberated, will require education. So should the Chinese, but they are more amenable—not so primitive. Nor is it any compliment to the British to recognize that it has kept the Indians so backward.

The Filipinos are great chaps, but they probably are not a sufficiently weighty influence to predominate. Besides, they are Western rather than Eastern—their political and economic philosophies are, anyway.

I have encountered many of their representatives in Washington of late, and they are of a first-class liberal but not immoderately radical type. Maybe our management of Manila is entitled to some of the credit for it. Regardless of that consideration, those islanders are a considerably different breed of cats than the Japs or Chinese.

Siberian Russia is geographically Asiatic, to be sure, but it is not as assimilable into the West as farther western Europe is.

Australia is as Occidental as London or New York.

What is wanted is a merger. China's intellectuals are favorable toward it. Possibly they want modifications, but they are not unreasonable.

My first experience in China was in the days of Dr. Sun Yat Sen—a good many years ago. The "doc" was the originator of his country's modernization. He was a sure-thing liberal and economist and upbuilder.

He caught the rest of the world by surprise.

It took him quite awhile to "get away with it," but he was the Chinese Washington of his time.

The human raw material he had available was about 99.9 per cent.

It was low-grade human and he humanized it.

I knew him personally. He had on his hands, not a rebellion against power but an internal revolution, and he got away with it. He did it, not by defeating an outside enemy, but by convincing his own people. Outsiders, including Americans, did not appreciate what he was accomplishing. He did it, regardless of them.

At the end of his term, he had not fully accomplished his task, but he had created a nationality.

When the present war started, it struck me that we were in on it and ought to be represented.

The Japanese were prompt to introduce themselves as National Press Club members. My notion was that the Chinese should belong, too. So I offered to put in an application—and it was o. k'd.

Chinese Ambassador Chen Ting Wang joined immediately and made a speech. His secretary, Y. F. Lieu, followed.

The difficulty with Ambassador Chen Ting was that he couldn't maintain his dues. Neither could "Y. F."

Chen Ting now is with the Red Cross. I've got his motto—meaning in Chinese, "May you live 1,000 years."

However, that is because I knew Dr. Sun Yat Sen. It is comparable, among the Chinese, to having been personally acquainted with George Washington, as such an association would be regarded by Americans.

Well, that diplomatic relationship has passed. It was not that Dr. Chen Ting was not an excellent ambassador, but he is not a rich man and Chiang Kai-shek's present government has not been financially-able to stand the maintenance of Washington headquarters exclusively out of its own treasury. Consequently a personally better-heeled staff of representatives had to come in.

But its Oriental consequence cannot be over-estimated, as to the post-war world.

GOOD FRIDAY

Judas this day sold his Master.
Took betrayal's filthy price!
Peter, fearful of disaster,
As foretold, denied Him thrice.

Judas, called by all a traitor,
Threw away the coin unspent
Cried: "No crime than mine is greater!
I have spilled blood innocent"

In the vale of Hinnom later
Judas hanged himself in shame.
Still all people think him traitor!
Still men shudder at his name.

Peter long has been forgiven.
Judas bitterly has paid.
Still his soul remains unshriven
Of that one misstep he made.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

When Thomas C. Workman, serving a life sentence for murder in the Oklahoma State Prison, heard that Sergeant Albert S. Schmid of the Marines had been blinded in one eye and partially lost the sight of the other, he wrote to the boy's parents.

This is what he said, in part:

"I have a son in the army and I also have two daughters. When your son lost his sight he was fighting for my girls as well as others.

"I'm just a number, a convict, with a record I'm sure ashamed of. I can't go out and work. All I can do is time.

"I can do that with one of my eyes. So your son can have any part or all of one of my eyes."

The doctors, to whom this offer was shown, said that such an operation would be of no help.

But "Although we may never meet," young Sergeant Schmid wrote to the convict, "I shall always treasure the helping hand you extended me."

I don't know anything about Workman's crime. He admits that his record is bad.

But I do thing that, whatever his crime, he has to some extent atoned for it.

We are so apt to condemn criminals, to throw them into prisons and to let them rot away.

"Serves them right," we say in righteous scorn, "let them pay the penalty for their sins."

It's true, society must be protected.

We have not as yet found a better way to take care of criminals than by putting them in jail.

But some day, in the future, when people have stopped fighting over each other, I hope we will have found a method of rescuing the good that's even in the vilest criminal.

I have always felt that no man wants to be a criminal any more than any wants to be mean.

Surroundings, necessity, circumstances beyond their control, often make crooks out of perfectly honest people.

But why punish the good as well as the bad in the man?

We need all that is good in this world so badly that we should do all we can to utilize every last bit of it.

I don't know the way—but someone, wiser and better than I, will find it.

The Republicans missed another opportunity to capture the White House.

This time not even Henry Wallace was around to defend the great seal and the east wing.

Both boys are off visiting friends. Amigos and countrymen and it is all very pleasant below the border and down Souther America Way.

The benefits are already piling up from these international town meetings.

As the President of Mexico so well put it: "Our workmen, every day in greater numbers, are going to the fields of the United States to lend their assistance in tasks which, for the time being, have had to be abandoned by farmers who have been drafted."

What a comfort that will be to the farmers who have been drafted!

Thought for the day: Hi neighbor!

Post-War Move May Provide New Food Plan

Planners Consider Possibility of Agreement To Provide Food For Poor

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 23—America's official post war planners today are considering the possibility of an international agreement to make nutritional foods available at low cost to the poorer regions of the world after the war is over.

A plan to this effect may be presented by the American delegation to the United Nations food conference, which convenes at Hot Springs, Va., May 18.

Under the plan now being studied, the American people would be called upon to help finance the feeding of the masses of India, China and other areas of the world.

America's share of the cost of this scheme to prevent hunger and starvation would be considered an insurance payment for maintaining world peace and helping to raise the standard of living of the earth's inhabitants generally.

The major food producing nations would be asked to accept as an international obligation the distribution at low cost of nutritional products to the under-nourished peoples of the world.

Minimum nutrition standards would be set for the various underfed areas, and the United Nations would be pledged to cooperate in making food available at a minimum cost within reach of the purchasing power of the masses.

One method of facilitating the delivery of low cost food to the special areas would be by duty free movement of surplus products from the producing areas.

CUT DOWN SIZE OF DELEGATIONS IN WAGE PARLEY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 23—Anthracite mine operators and unionists seeking negotiation of a new wage-and-hour contract thinned down their numbers today to streamline the progress of the parleys and make more workable compact the size of the conference.

Two men were named on each side, with Maj. W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal company, of Scranton remaining as chairman of the joint conference.

International Secretary Thomas Kennedy and Mart Brennan, president of District 7, United Mine Workers of America, were selected for the union side. For the operators, Ralph Taggart, president of the Philadelphia & Reading Iron company and John H. Pierce, president of the Edison Coal company of Scranton, were chosen.

TO REMOVE RESTRICTIONS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23 — The OPA today announced that quota restrictions on the number of monthly certificates for truck tire recapping will be removed May 1.

The action was taken, OPA said, to conserve rubber by providing recapping as soon as needed rather than risk ruin of casings.

Must Pay Price For Victory Says Head Of Legion

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—America today faced the grim warning by Col. Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, that a tremendous number of lives will be lost in winning the war.

Reporting on his recent inspection of the North African battle front, Col. Waring said in a radio address that casualties in that area have been "terrific" and the battles there "mark only the beginning of the battle of Europe."

"Hitler knows he cannot win in Africa," said Waring. "But he is still confident he can stay winner in Europe where the battle will be fought on a vaster and deadlier scale.

"We must stand by our determination to fight it out at all costs until we win. We must continue to be willing to pay the price, if it takes years of paying. That paying will come harder and harder. But Hitler and what he stands for must be destroyed. There is no other thinkable alternative for a liberty-loving people."

Italian prisoners say they like Americans better than Germans. Oh, yeah? Which did they shoot?

Tokyo Bombers Want To Return

Men Who Took Part In Raid Seek Chance To Make New Raid

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 23.—American airmen who bombed Tokyo last year and now are flying in this theater were bitter today over the Japanese execution of their captured buddies—a move which they saw as a panic striction indication of sure defeat for Nippon.

Unanimously they expressed one wish: that they may get a chance to go back and give the island empire a real going over.

A joint pledge was issued by three of those fliers, Maj. Charles R. Greening, of Tacoma, Wash., Capt. Henry A. Potter of Pierre, S. D., and Capt. James M. Parker of Livingston, Tex., who declared:

"Knowing that nothing can bring back those comrades captured by the Japs, we'll not make a statement, but a promise. Our first thoughts were to damn their souls and curse their people, but mere curse words are not fitting. The filthiest, dirtiest, most suitable expression is the word 'Jap' itself. That word now becomes the vilest expression on the face of the earth. This is our pledge—henceforward to talk less but take all the action possible with the facilities we have at hand to wipe out the Japanese authorities who were responsible. We ask the pledge of every Christian soul in America to assist in this war and not rest until the war has been won."

Capt. Charles J. Ozuk of Chicago, Ill., declared, "I knew the Japs were mean but I didn't think they'd do anything like that."

"I think it's pretty damned rotten when they capture soldiers in uniform and then kill them," said Master Sgt. Edwin V. Bain of Greensboro, N. C., a gunner.

Another gunner, Technical Sgt. David J. Thatcher of Billings, Mont., revealed that the fliers passed over many small fishing boats as they neared the Japanese coast and could easily have strafed the vessels "but we figured they were having a hard time getting along and didn't bother them."

Capt. James H. Macia of Tombstone, Ariz., said: "I personally think it's an admission of defeat. They know they can't bomb our cities and they know we're going to bomb hell out of theirs."

CHAPLAIN HAVERFIELD REUNITES BROTHERS

Chaplain Ross M. Haverfield, former pastor of Westfield church, Mt. Jackson, arranged a unique reunion of two brothers, who had met only once before in their lives, at Camp Stoneman, California, recently.

Private Nehemiah Craft of the Pittsburg, Calif., Replacement Depot, where Rev. Haverfield is chaplain, discovered by a coincidence that his brother, Technician Fifth Grade John H. Fritz, was stationed at Camp Stoneman nearby. Chaplain Haverfield made the necessary arrangements for them to meet.

BOY SCOUTS

SCOUT TROOP BUYS BONDS

Troop 3, Sponsored by First United Presbyterian church, corner Albert street and Clenmore Boulevard has purchased $125 worth of Second War Loan Bonds. The leaders and Scouts from this Troop are setting an example for other Troops in New Castle District and it is hoped that others will work on projects and earn money to do the same thing.

TREE PLANTING

Saturday morning at nine o'clock Scouts from New Castle will again assemble at the corner of Cascade street and County Line avenue to plant trees on the property formerly owned by the Lehigh Cement company. The Scouts have been asked to bring their lunches with them, and chocolate milk will be furnished for their noon meal.

If every Scout would bring a pail from home it would simplify the problem of keeping the young trees wet until they are planted in the ground. Nothing will destroy these young trees quicker than to have their tender roots exposed to the air and the moisture dried from them before they are planted.

TROOP HOLDS INVESTITURE

Last evening after the regular meeting of troop 4, in the Mahoningtown school, the leaders of the troop held an investiture ceremony for six new Scouts and the troop bugler.

The meeting was well attended by Scouts, and the junior leaders of the troop did an excellent job of running their troop meeting. These Scouts are to be congratulated for the fine work they are doing, for without much adult leadership they are doing an excellent scouting job and have one of the largest troops in New Castle district.

Boy Scouts of Troop 5 met in the George Washington Junior High school and an interesting talk about the Irish rebel was given by Mr. Barkby.

An overnight hike was planned for May 1. Tree planting was talked by Mr. Lamphier for Saturday. An invitation was extended to the scouts to attend the motion pictures at the Highland U. P. church Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

They came by Clipper Plane via Panama, from San Miguel, Bolivia, South America. 'Victory' Drive In Sunday Schools Is Approaching End

Easter Sunday Attendance Will Determine Final Standing Of Contestants

Easter Sunday will mark the successful conclusion of the "Victory" 8-weeks Pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, and the winners in the four New Castle groups, as well as the districts outside of New Castle, will, in most cases, not be definitely known until after next Sunday's reports are in.

Generally speaking, the competition has been keenest in the first, New Castle, group, for all of the Sunday schools in this classification have high percentages, with First Presbyterian and Third U. P., in first and second places, respectively. In the second, New Castle, group it seems to be between the First U. P. and the Mahoning Methodist, and in the third, New Castle, group between Wesley Methodist and Mahoningtown Presbyterian, in order. In the fourth, New Castle, group the winner might be either the North Side Community, the Savannah Methodist or St. John's Lutheran, depending on next Sunday attendances.

In the Wampum district it seems that the Newport Methodist has a large enough lead to remain in first place regardless of next Sunday's attendance. In the Ellwood district the Immanuel Reformed Evangelical and the Wurtemburg Methodist are in first and second places, respectively, and in the Mt. Jackson district the race is between the Edenburg Methodist and Bethel U. P. In the Wilmington district the Volant Presbyterian is in the lead with the East Brook Methodist not far behind.

While there must be losers as well as winners in every competitive effort, still the main thing to take in consideration is that all have benefitted to a certain extent, depending largely on the organization and personal work done by the individual Sunday schools. The spirit has been good throughout the campaign, and there has been "everything to gain and nothing to lose."

War Production Board Members Are Appointed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—In a move to coordinate all phases of the war effort, President Roosevelt today issued an order making three leading government officials members of the War Production Board.

The order gives manpower commissioner Paul V. McNutt, transportation director Joseph B. Eastman and petroleum administrator Harold Ickes membership on the board to act directly under WPB chairman Donald M. Nelson.

While McNutt, Eastman and Ickes functioned more or less under the direction of the WPB, today's action actually places them under the complete jurisdiction of the entire board and subject to the directives of Nelson.

GAC's Practice At High School; Are Shot By Cameraman

Drill corps of the Girls Athletic club of the senior high school, called since its organization in February the Junior R. O. T. C., but now to be known again as the GACC practiced in the high school gymnasium Thursday evening under the supervision of Sergeant Michael Shea of the U. S. Marine corps recruiting office.

Dressed in their regular gym outfits because the jumper uniforms that they have ordered are not ready, girls of the company posed for group pictures taken by a local cameraman. After considerable scrambling for front line 'spots' among photogenic 'Gacs', which disrupted the regular military head height line of the company, the cameraman succeeded in taking shots of groups at 'right shoulder arms', 'port arms' and 'parade rest' for the high school manual.

Practice was mainly devoted to manual of arms and silent manual drill with a review of marching commands.

Found unconscious on the kitchen floor, Paolo Toscano, 65, a shoemaker, and his wife, Egonaffa, 62, were feared near death in St. Francis hospital.

SILK OF SPIDER VITAL IN BOMB SIGHTS FOR WAR

Strong, Finer Than Silkworm Silk; Professor Describes Its Production

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 23. Spiders are helping us win the war according to Dr. Stuart W. Frost, professor of economic entomology at the Pennsylvania State college.

The fine hair-like silk from the web of a spider common in Central America and the southern United States is used in bomb sights and optical instruments. It forms the reticle, or crosslines in the focus of the instrument, which indicates to the bombardier when to drop the bombs, or to the submarine commander when to fire the torpedo.

Spider silk is used because it is exceedingly strong, is finer than silkworm silk and will return to its original shape after stretching. One square inch of silk woven together will support about 90,000 pounds. Hose made from it would be too sheer to see, and the thread is so fine that it would require nearly $100 worth of silk to make one pair of women's hose, although commercially it costs only $5 for 1200 feet.

Special Technique Needed

"It is not profitable to raise spiders for their silk," Dr. Frost said, "because spiders feed on each other, and the business of keeping them isolated would be tremendous." It also requires special training to get the silk, which is often a bright buttercup yellow.

The silk collector has a harness, a saddle which will fit the spider and keep it from getting away. Then he touches a tiny stick to the spider's spinneret and pulls it away from the spider's body gently. As he does so, the spider begins to spin. The collector attaches the thread to a reel and winds it up. The spider can spin about 200 feet at one time, Dr. Frost said.

Soot Suit!

SOOT SUIT is Army's version, maybe, of the well-known zoot suit. At least, this example certainly has a wonderful drape shape. Usually of a lovely dusty road gray or a dirty rag black, it is made of burlap and designed to hide Johnny Doughboy from the enemy. (International)

CHILD DIES OF AUTO INJURIES

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., April 23.—Louise Anderson, three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, of Buffalo, N. Y., died today from injuries received yesterday in a head-on collision of two automobiles near Kane.

Hospital attaches said the condition of her father was "only fair," while her mother showed improvement. Coroner T. L. Clark, meanwhile, announced that an inquest would be held today, with charges against the driver of the other car, John Chatmon, Jr., 21, Kane Negro, depending the outcome.

Chatmon received a fractured skull and a broken jaw in the accident, and is in the same hospital.

Yank Flier Is Safe After Ten Days In Jungle

Natives Aid American Flier To Get Back To Army Base After 'Chute Drop

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, April 23.—A young American fighter pilot who was forced to bail out of his crippled plane returned safely to this base today after hiking for ten days through heart-breaking jungles.

He is Second Lieut. Richard Kimball of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Kimball parachuted from his plane ten days ago during a large scale assault against Port Moresby by the Japanese, who hurled some 100 aircraft into the attack.

Here is Kimball's story as he told it:

"I'll never forget that day. There were planes everywhere and I got tired of hearing the boys call on the radio 'I've got one'. I decided to got one myself and I climbed towards a formation of six bombers. On my first pass I got some bullets into one bomber and as I went in again a Zero appeared from nowhere coming head-on.

"Before I had a chance to fire, his bullets had ripped into my canopy and wings. The cockpit filled with smoke and I started to drop. I yelled 'Kimball calling. I'm getting out.' Seconds later I was floating down through the deepest silence I've ever known. I crashed through the top branches of a tree and swung there 100 feet above a sloping mountainside.

"The natives heard my whistles and, climbing trees close by, lashed a heavy pole so that it projected to where I was hanging. I shinnied down and the natives took me to a hut where I spent the night jammed in with 14 others.

"The next day I set out to walk back guided by natives.

"On the seventh day I reached a river and the natives speared fish which they cooked in leaves. That meal was the best I've ever tasted. I travelled the last stages by canoe and reached a 'coc plantation' yesterday."

Aside from worry over the fact that his parents might be notified he was missing, Kimball's thoughts centered chiefly about how good it would be to find a hot dog stand over the next ridge, he said.

LAWRENCE COUNTY FARMS AND FARMERS

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

CONTINUE BARN FEEDING WITH COWS ON PASTURE

Many cows are turned out to pasture too soon. This is bad for both the cows and the pasture.

Too often, many dairymen feel that the cows can get all the feed they need from the early pasture and that no other feed is necessary. However, early pasture grass runs high in water and it is impossible for a cow to eat sufficient grass for good production and to maintain body weight.

It is true that the early pasture grass may stimulate extra milk but this may be at a sacrifice of nutrients stored in the body which will show up later when the cows lose flesh and give less milk.

When cows are first turned on pasture, barn feeding should continue for a couple of weeks the same as before they were turned out. This will have to be judged somewhat by the appetite of the cow.

After the grass has become more mature, some grain should be fed to the high producers. This grain need not contain more than 12 to 16 per cent protein and the amount fed may vary, depending upon the amount of pasture available, the breed of cows, and the amount of milk produced.

Dry hay in small amounts should be fed each day while cows are on pasture. The hay slows up the passing of the grass through the digestive tract, which allows more nutrients to be assimulated from the grass itself.

START STRAWBERRIES FOR NEXT YEAR'S FOOD NEEDS

Fresh and processed fruits are recognized as important parts of the human diet. Under present conditions, many processed fruits are limited as to supply or are rather difficult to get. Therefore it is advisable for each home gardener who has sufficient space to use one or two of the small fruits as a means of supplying fruit for use in the off seasons.

For the average home garden, strawberries offer the greatest possibilities. A yield of 1 quart should be realized from each plant set.

In order to obtain this yield, the following points should be remembered and put into operation:

1. Choose the proper variety. Premier is the heaviest yielder.
2. Obtain good plants and set as soon as possible after digging. Good locally grown plants are best.
3. Set plants as early in the spring as possible. Early planting gives a long growing season and a larger number of new plants.
4. Insure vigorous plants. Fertilize at the rate of 400 pounds of 3-8-7 per acre, or about 10 pounds for 100 plants.
5. Cultivate frequently. Destroy weeds and remove all blossoms the first season.

PREVENT FOREST FIRES AND SAVE MANY LIVES

Uneasy lies the head of the person whose careless act caused a forest fire in which a friend or neighbor lost his life.

Every spring forest fires take a toll of human lives. Newspaper readers still remember the deaths of the C. C. C. boys in Cameron county. You never can tell when it starts that a fire may cause a fatality, so make sure that your matches, campfires, cigars, or cigarettes are entirely out before leaving them.

Even when forest fires cause no human fatalities, there are many loses of life among small game, such as rabbits, grouse, and other birds and small animals. These, however, are not the only losses.

In some fires, the killing of the large trees is immediately evident but in most cases only the dead leaves and trees seem to burn and be destroyed. However, this is misleading because all the little seedling trees and tree seed on the ground will be destroyed by fire and the tender inner bark of many larger trees, killed, thus causing the tree to die when there are no outward signs of being burned.

Preventing the fires from getting started saves timber that is essential to the war effort and also saves the cost of control by fire wardens or others who have important work to do.

Remember the slogan, "Be patriotic, be thrifty, be a good sport, and don't start a forest fire."

PROPER NUTRITION AID TO HIGHER PRODUCTION

Proper feeding of animals never was more essential than at the present time. It is important to use the necessary feed items to get the greatest gain at the least cost. By use of the right feeds a higher food production may be obtained.

Intensive feeding for high production sometimes is done without proper variety of choice of natural feedstuffs. The value of a ration depends not only upon sufficient quantity but also upon the selection of the right feeds of good quality.

Here are some suggestions for feeding:

1. Be sure that animals get some protein feed.
2. Prevent calcium and prosphorus deficiency by feeding supplements containing these minerals.
3. Let animals get direct sunshine for vitamin D.
4. Iodized salt is a good form in which to feed iodine.
5. Vitamins are important in animal nutrition. A deficiency of vitamin A or carotene may cause blindness, diarrhea, swelling of the legs, consulsion or death. Feeds right in this vitamin are fresh green grass, well-made silage and well-cured hay which has retained a good green color and is of the most recent crop.
6. In feeding stored feeds it is advisable to add some sources of vitamin A or carotene, because stored corn and other grains, like stored roughages, lose some of their vitamin content while retaining most of their nutritive value.

POTATO CROP NEEDS GOOD SEED AND FERTILE SOIL

A good crop of potatoes provides a large quantity of human food and generally returns a profit to the grower. Poor potato seed or poor soil often mean a waste of seed, labor and fertilizer as well as a financial loss.

Good seed includes relative freedom from disease, either certified seed or potatoes not more than one year removed from certification. It also means that the seed potatoes have been well stored so as to be capable of producing strong, vigorous sprouts. Seed which has heated or shriveled and produced sprouts long enough to be knocked off in planting will send up too many weak, spindling sprouts when planted. Such seed is not dependable.

Planting generally should be done as soon as possible after the seed potatoes are cut. Drying out of cut surfaces by sun or wind will cause rotting and a poor stand. Katahdins and early varieties should be planted as early as the ground can be well prepared, in order to permit good growth and development before hot, dry weather.

If potatoes are planted on any but well-drained, fertile soils, the grower gambles too heavily on abnormally favorable weather. Good crops often can be grown on corn stubble, provided there was a good sod preceding the corn and manure has been used liberally in the rotation. Worm damage is likely to be serious on old sods.

Potato land should be plowed in good time. Waiting for sods or cover crops to make more top growth permits the soil to dry out too much and is unwise. Potato seedbeds should be worked up deeply and thoroughly but not pulverized. Heavy disking before plowing up old grass sods.

Deep planting, three to four inches, is essential. No planter will plant deep unless the seedbed is first thoroughly and deeply loosened with something like a good spring-tooth harrow.

Fertilizer helps produce profitable yields, but will not take the place of natural soil fertility. A complete fertilizer usually is best. Without manure and on early potatoes, 700 to 1,000 pounds of 4-10-10 should be satisfactory. With manure and high fertility, 600 to 800 pounds of 4-12-12 may be better, especially on late varieties.

With a good planter, up to 1,000 pounds of fertilizer is applied best in the row but not in contact with the seed. Without a planter, part of the fertilizer may be drilled in deeply and up to 500 pounds mixed with the soil in the row.

GOOD LITTER NEEDED IN BROODING CHICKS

Satisfactory, inexpensive litter is easily available to Lawrence county poultrymen for brooding purposes. Straw, corn fodder, corn cobs and shavings are all practical materials. The first three of these materials are available on most farms.

Straw should be chopped into small pieces by running through the ensilage cutter or hammer mill. This exposes more area for moisture absorption before wetting occurs, thus making a more lasting type of litter than whole straw.

Dry corn fodder run through a hammer mill also makes excellent litter with durable quantities similar to chopped straw. Corn cobs should be ground to the size of a shelled pea; then they, too, will make much fine material which helps dry out droppings and readily works them into the body of the litter.

The characteristics of a good litter are ability to absorb moisture, durability or long wearing quality, and low cost.

Chicks should be started with two to four inches of litter on the floor. Daily stirring with a rake, fork, potato work, or the feet helps keep the litter light and loose, incorporates the droppings in it and permits the heat of the stove to keep it dry.

Eight Measures Get Approval Of Governor Martin

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 23—Eight more legislative enactments were placed on the statute books today following approval by Gov. Edward Martin.

Under one of the provisions, state motor police in the armed forces retain their rights to pay increases and promotions. Other measures approved include state-owned armory buildings in the act creating a fund for restoring state property damaged by fire; validate county treasurer's sales for delinquent taxes where the reports and returns of such sales were not made to the court of common pleas or confirmed by the court; require written notice to be given to taxable persons when a triennial assessment changes their property value; provide for the filing of the treasurer's bond in second class townships; authorize third class counties to maintain a registry survey bureau containing information on location ownership and transfer of title of real property located in the county; enable out-of-state doctors to practice in Pennsylvania during the war, and repeal the act regulating the manufacture and sale of distilled and fermented vinegars.

LEWIS MAY CALL SOFT COAL STRIKE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 23.—A move to call the nation's soft coal miners out of the pits May 1 was feared today as John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Unions conferred with bituminous mine operators.

Lewis was expected to clarify the union's position in the soft coal wage controversy, following collapse of collective bargaining negotiations and intervention of the national war labor board in the dispute.

The mine chieftain will meet with the soft coal operators to receive formal notifications that the dispute has been certified to the war labor board by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and that the board has accepted jurisdiction.

Lewis has denounced the labor board as a "court packed against labor" and has intimated he would refuse to place the miners demand for increased wages before it for decision.

Immediate work stoppage in the mines after today's final session of the collective bargaining conferees was considered a distinct possibility.

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

(By LEWIS C. DAYTON)
(County Farm Agent)

CULTIVATION

Cultivation of the garden, either with a wheel-hoe or hand hoe, is important. Frequent cultivation will keep the surface layer of soil in a loose, fine condition.

The principal purpose of cultivation is the destruction of weed seedlings. Regular and frequent cultivations will destroy all weeds before they can make much growth. However, deep cultivation, especially close to the plants, should be avoided. Shallow cultivation is much less likely to cut off roots and is just as effective in removing the weeds. A wheelhoe with the "sweep" or knife type of teeth is preferable to one with teeth which dig deep in the soil. The garden should be cultivated thoroughly after each rain or irrigation as soon as the soil has dried off sufficiently and as often in addition as is necessary to control weeds.

Cultivation should begin as soon as the plants are up, provided the soil is not too wet. If, as a result of hard rains, a crust has formed on the soil before the seedlings are up, it should be broken up by going over the surface with a rake. This will help the seedlings to break through the surface. Care must be taken not to work the soil deeply enough to disturb the seeds or seedlings.

FOOD, CLOTHING, HOUSEHOLD NOTES FOR WAR LIVING

From a semi-monthly roundup of government orders and statements of interest to housewives, prepared by the Office of War Information, come tips on beans, alligator shoes, garden tools and other commodities.

Food

Each person will have about eight pounds of dry beans to eat this year, about one pound more than was indicated at first when they were rationed. The increase is possible because dry beans are being brought in from Mexico and other countries.

The War Production Board has asked home canners to get acquainted with a steel-saving glass-top closure which will fit any standard home canning jar.

Clothes

More than a million pairs of women's and girls' shoes are expected to be made from reptile leather as a result of the release of certain types of leather from inventories by the Office of Price Administration. Certain gold and silver colored leather may also be used under certain conditions, as well as natural colored ratan leather.

Household

Electric fan replacement parts will be available, W.P.B. announces. To obtain a new part, a similar used part must be turned in to the dealer.

Garden tools should be sufficient in quantity and variety for essential needs, according to W.P.B. However, simplification eliminates about 700 unnecessary items saving approximately 1000 tons of steel a year.

Household waste fats collected during February reached a new high of almost seven million pounds. But W.P.B. reminds housewives that this is less than 50 per cent of the quota. Save more fats.

American women have turned in over 888,000 pounds or approximately 18,000,000 pairs of discarded silk and nylon stockings during the first four months of the stocking salvage campaign.

Birds Necessary To Protect Life Of Forest Trees

Called Trees Health Officers; Foresters Urge Protection, Help For Birds

HARRISBURG, April 23—Insectivorous and song birds are getting to their business of finding northern summer homes earlier this year than usual—and in large numbers.

District foresters of the State Department of Forests and Waters have reported extraordinary migration of birds of all types. Robins have been north for several weeks and other songsters are reportedly weeks ahead of schedule.

Foresters frequently call birds the health officers of the trees as well as tree planters and for this reason they watch carefully the annual migrations. It is an undisputed fact, they say, the forest and shade tree existence, deprived of assistance of bird life, would be next to impossible.

Birds comprise the greatest single foe of insect life and the total damage to trees and plants by pests run into annual staggering sums. Whenever unhealthy conditions prevail as a result of insect attacks, birds are sure to discover them and so something to remedy the situation. Every part of the tree owes something to birds, say the foresters.

Actual studies have shown that one-third of the food of the hairy woodpecker consists of the larvae of wood-boring beetles. Ants are its second staple food, forming seventy per cent of the total, including many carpenter ants which hollow out and contribute to the utter destruction of full grown trees.

The downy woodpecker is a great enemy of the coddling moth, which causes "wormy apples", and feeds on the eggs of the caterpillas. The common English Sparrow is a persistent foe of the Japanese bettle.

Foresters urge protection of all birds, particularly during the spring when it is possible to assist in provision of nesting materials, construction and erection of bird houses and the planting of trees in which the birds will find, year after year, some food, shelter and nesting places.

"Meat Canteens" Urged For Miners

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—"Meat canteens" for meat-hungry coal miners were advanced today by the Pittsburgh Coal company as the solution to the miners' complaints that point rationing does not allow them enough meat for table and lunch needs.

The company announced that it would open a trial canteen at the Montour No. 10 mine next week, and that if it is successful, the service will be extended to other pits in the western Pennsylvania area.

The Office of Price Administration provided extra points for the company to try out the plan. The canteen will be stationed near the mine entrance, and meat sandwiches will be supplied to the miners.

The OPA said the same arrangement is open to other industrial concerns under ration order No. 5.

Air Raid Show To Be Tuesday Evening

Date Is Changed For Demonstration Under Auspices Of Defense Council

Announcement was made today by local Civilian Defense authorities that the show which was originally scheduled for Monday evening, April 26, in the Senior high school auditorium here, has been changed to Tuesday evening, April 27. The hour is 8 o'clock.

The show is presented by the Bell Telephone company and shows army flash calls and civil warning calls.

This will be interesting, not only to those engaged in Civilian Defense, and aircraft warning service, but also to the general public, who will be enabled to have a better understanding of what takes place when there is an air raid test, and what would happen in the event of an actual air raid. For this reason, the public has also been invited to see this graphic demonstration.

Germans Only Hope Is Pinned On Submarines

Allied Supremacy In Air Is Recognized By Goebbels It Is Revealed

(Editor's Note—Tanks, dive bombers and submarines are discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might.")

By MAJOR PAUL G. RABORG
Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 23—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels of Nazi Germany has published in his magazine, Das Reich, statements to the effect that the air supremacy of the United Nations is now acknowledged by the Axis. And further, that the air threat will be successfully met by Hitler's submarine offensive even though it takes a longer time for final results.

Herr Goebbels overlooks several basic facts. First, that airplane production by the United Nations is now far in excess of any possible future Axis manufacturing schedule.

And further, that no battle, be it land or sea, can be won without supremacy in the air.

Facts Overlooked

The wily German propaganda minister also overlooks the fact that we can and will build so many anti-submarine weapons that in the future it will become literally impossible for a submarine to get within range of a merchantman. Again, how long it will take the United Nations to gain this victory is not known.

The recently reported several-days-long battles between at least three convoys and truly numerous wolf-packs of submarines, has proved that no matter how vicious, reckless and desperate Hitler's underwater attack may be, it cannot gain decisive results.

However, this knowledge should never lead individuals of the United Nations to over-optimism because the enemy submarine offensive is their only attack operation which is fighting with any degree of success.

In the history of warfare, all weapons are always outmoded. Man has ever sought to create weapons with greater killing power, and then turned around and built stronger protection to offset the increased killing ability. When a new weapon is nullified by new defensive methods, the circle re-commences and another new and more deadly weapon is invented.

Three Nazi Hopes

There are three destructive weapons on which the Axis based their hoped-to-be success in this war. They are the tank, the dive bomber and the submarine.

All of the Axis successes during the commencement of the present war with tanks and dive bombers, were because of the demoralization of the defenders.

Now, for the first time in Herr Hitler's war career, the United Nations are in no sense demoralized by the noise of his attack, and the democracies have definitely attained air superiority.

Therefore, from now on, Hitler's tanks are doomed.

The dive bomber never was of any use unless it had superiority of the air protection. Once the dive bomber is committeed to its descent of attack, it cannot veer out of its line and it therefore becomes an easy target for good anti-aircraft fire.

The submarine is a much more difficult weapon to nullify. However, our listening devices, depth charges, anti-aircraft and submarine guns new type escort vessels, together with the combination of sea and air attack against the submarine, will send it to its doom along with Hitler's tanks and dive bombers.

Curfew Law To Affect 'Teen-Aged Pittsburgh Girls

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—An 11 p. m. curfew for unescorted "teen-aged girls will go into effect in Pittsburgh next week, Safety Director George E. A. Fairley reported today.

Similar to a measure inaugurated in Philadelphia in January, the ban will prohibit the 'teen-aged girls from appearing on downtown streets after that hour, unless valid reasons are presented.

A special roving police squad will be created to enforce the regulation, Fairley said.

The squad, besides patrolling streets and taverns, will also be authorized to question girls in the company of servicemen under "suspicious circumstances."

Girls picked up for questioning will be taken to the detective bureau to await arrival of their parents if they cannot give a satisfactory explanation, according to Fairley.

Final details of the curfew will be ironed out Saturday, and will be put into effect around the middle of the week.

WHITE HOUSE ACTION LOOMS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—White House action involving possible use of troops in the United Mine Workers' jurisdictional dispute at the Celanese Corporation's Newark plant loomed today as the War Labor Board prepared for another showdown with Mine Union Leader John L. Lewis on the coal issue.

With the Celanese case taking the jump over the coal dispute in bringing matters to a head between Lewis and the government, the labor board warned the burley mine workers chief and other union officials that unless the Celanese strike is ended the matter will be laid before President Roosevelt.

WLB's threat of Wednesday night to call the army into the dispute was defied when the striking UMW workers voted to continue their picket line around the plant and demanded that the army or navy take over the war production factory.

The Celanese strike began April 12 in a jurisdictional dispute between the miners union and the CIO's textile workers. The company has a contract wthi the textile workers and refused to bargain with the UWM.

Waitress Held In Stabbing Affair

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., April 23.—Police today held a 30-year-old waitress and a male companion without bail in the fatal stabbing of Jesse James Chapman, 50 a Chester war plant worker.

Police found Chapmen's body, with a seven-inch butcher knife blade through his heart, after his landlady called for aid to quell an argument in his room.

Thelma Brown, who said she had lived with Chapman for the past few days, and Hayward Beard, 28, both of whom purportedly were in the room at the time of the argument, were arrested. Each told police at first the war worker committed suicide in a jealous rage.

Later, however, the two blamed each other.

Doolittle Feared Raid Would Be Termed Failure

(International News Service)

DENVER, April 23.—Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle at first feared his bombing raid on Tokyo would be considered unsuccessful because all planes were lost, the diary of one of his crew members revealed today.

The diary was written by Staff Sgt. Paul J. Leonard of Denver, engineer-gunner aboard Doolittle's bomber. Sgt. Leonard later was killed in action in North Africa and his diary was made public by his widow, now employed at the army's medical depot in Denver.

Doolittle was "disconsolate" during the early part of his stay in China, Leonard wrote and did not "cheer up until he was presented with his brigadier general's stars at Chungking."

Wage Increases Largely Halted

Manpower Officials Say Order Of President Checks Most Pay Boosts

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Manpower commissioner officials admitted today that President Roosevelt's recent "hold-the-line" order had knocked out 75 per cent of the possibilities for wage increases on the part of organized labor.

This, they acknowledged, is the prime reason for an incipient "revolt" in labor ranks, including both the CIO and AFL, and not so much the job-wage freeze regulations which were issued by WMC Chief Paul V. McNutt to implement the President's directive.

Fowler W. Harper, WMC deputy chairman, disclosed that a meeting will be held in Washington tomorrow with representatives of the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union which condemned the McNutt regulations as "undemocratic" and instructed its members to resign from area and regional WMC management-labor committees.

Harper expressed the hope that an "understanding" could be reached and the powerful UAW, an organization of over 900,000 members with its principal strength in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky, persuaded to continue participation in the government's voluntary labor stabilization program.

Mr. Roosevelt's recent "hold-the-line" order withdrew from the war labor board the authority to grant wage increases in cases of "inequities" or, in other words, to adjust wages which are below prevailing scales in an area. WLB was left with power only to grant increases within the "Little Steel formula" or in cases of "substandard" pay rates.

Potatoes Unsuitable For Victory Gardens

Potato-Raising Too Highly Specialized For Amateur As Seed Shortage Looms

HARRISBURG, April 23.—The State Department of Agriculture is discouraging the planting of potatoes in Victory gardens in an effort to prevent a possible serious shortage of seed potatoes available to commercial growers:

It is pointed out by Secretary Miles Horst that the growing of potatoes has become one of the most highly specialized of agricultural pursuits and that even the best commercial growers exercising the greatest precautions against diseases are not always able to secure satisfactory yields.

"Since the growing of potatoes is so highly specialized," stated Secretary Horst, "many victory gardeners will be doomed to great disappointment when harvest time arrives and in many cases the results will represent a loss of the seed used.

"The supply of seed potatoes this year is greatly limited. It will therefore, be of far greater advantage to leave as much seed as possible available to the commercial grower who has the greatest chance of producing the highest yields. It is urged as a seed conservation measure and to prevent much disappointment over the potato crop that the average grower of small quantities of potatoes and the inexperienced Victory gardener who are not equipped to give the necessary care leave the growing of potatoes to the commercial grower."

Keep a piece of dried orange rind in the box with your tea, and it will give the tea a nice flavor.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 23.—Twelve resolutions have been introduced in the House and Senate requesting investigations of various governmental activities, but only two have been adopted. One, sponsored by Rep. Robert J. Cordier (R) Lackawanna, called for an inquiry to determine whether some program could not be substituted for the food stamp program which was abandoned by the government. The other wa introduced by Sen. John H. Dent (D) Westmoreland, and was the forerunner of public hearings regarding the acquisition of water companies by municipal authorities.

Resolutions which have not been acted upon included proposals to study postwar adjustment problems, phases of state taxation and revenue, equitable legislative apportionment, the Allegheny county board of property assessment, appeals and review, cost of treatments in state-aided hospitals, expenditure of $3,000 by a committee named in 1942 to investigate WPA sewing projects, the possibility of legislative reapportionment, and the state liquor control board. The Senate has not taken action on a House-approved resolution sponsored by Rep. Walter E. Rose, of Cambria, the Republican majority whip, directing a joint committee to study the elimination of duplicate state activities.

Rep. Earl Hewitt (R) Indiana, was surprised Monday night when the former speaker of the House, Elmer Kilroy, presented him with a picture taken in 1902 of the Philadelphia Athletics football team on which the assemblyman played quarterback. Kilroy said the picture was given him by Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia A's baseball club and former coach of the football squad that won the eastern professional football championship in 1902. Mack, Kilroy said, has had the picture in his office. Hewitt, who was visibly touched by the gift, said after the presentation that his teammates on the squad included Hawley Pierce, tackle, a full-blooded Sioux Indian; "Bozey" Riter, a halfback, now dean of men at Princeton university; Edward Bader, end, former Atlantic City mayor for 16 years, and Edgar Wallace, a tackle, captain of Penn's great 1901 team. The team was organized by the late John Shibe, Philadelphia sportsman, former owner of the American league baseball team.

The bureau of research and information in the Department of Labor and Industry has reported that the cost of living in Pennsylvania rose 2.2 per cent between September 15 and December 15, 1942. In figures just compiled after a survey, the bureau said the "increase was mainly due to a rise in food costs, especially those not under OPA control which make up about 10 per cent of the familys' food bill, higher charges for personal and professional services, and to the new excise taxes which went into effect November 1, 1942, covering cigarettes, cigars, telephone calls and railroad fares. The bureau stated that the food index was the highest since 1929.

COUPLE HELD IN AUTO FATALITY

(International News Service)

CLEARFIELD, Pa., April 23.—A young couple from nearby Woodland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniel, were under arrest today as the occupants of a car that killed Edward McKinn, 27, early Wednesday near Clearfield. Both posted bond for court action.

District Attorney Edward T. Kelly said Mrs. Daniel, 21, admitted she had taken over the driver's wheel when she found her husband under the influence of liquor. She was driving without a license and didn't stop after hitting McKinn, a laborer, according to Kelly.

Mrs. Daniel was held on two charges, while her husband was held on a charge of operating a car while under the influence of alcohol. They are the parents of a four-months-old child.

Non-Military Bombing Charge By Japs Stuns Tokyo Raid Veterans

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—"It's a damn lie!"

This was the answer by two heroes of the spectacular raid on Tokyo to Japan's claims that the American flyers had bombed non-military areas.

The veterans of the famed Tokyo raid said that they were "stunned" by the news that some of their buddies had been executed.

The men who flatly denied Japanese propaganda claims were captains Ted Lawson, 26, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Harold F. Watson, 27, who were injured following the raid.

"Its a damn lie," Watson hotly declared at a news conference when questioned about the Japanese claims that American flyers blasted targets indiscriminately and strafed civilians.

Targets Planned Before

Both flyers stated that their leader, Maj. Gen. James Doolittle, instructed them carefully before the raid to hit nothing but military targets which were identified ahead of time.

During the conference a spokesman for the War Department explained that the Tokyo raid details were withheld for more than a year "because a further raid was and is a decided possibility."

"We certainly wished it to be considered so in the minds of the Japanese," the spokesman added.

Revenge Ordered

As the flyers spoke, hundreds of thousands of American airmen the world over carried orders to destroy the Japanese air force and blast Nippon in revenge for the torture and execution of some of the eight captured aviators who raided Tokyo last April.

The 26-year-old Lawson who piloted one of the planes, lost a leg as the result of an injury suffered when his plane crash-landed in the sea 200 yards off the China coast.

Watson suffered a dislocated shoulder as result of bailing out of his plane in a heavily wooded mountainous region in unoccupied China.

"We not only were assigned military targets but were given specific military objectives before we left the Carrier Hornet," Lawson emphasized. "We had to pass up a lot of good military targets on the way in.

Good Targets Passed Up

"One of these targets was an aircraft carrier which was anchored in Tokyo bay. As we passed over it the boys were screaming over the interphone 'Let's drop an egg on it.' But we went on to our targets which were two machine works and a steel smelter south of Tokyo."

The flyers said each plane was assigned a main military target and two alternates in the event that they were unable to hit the one originally selected.

Each plane carried four 500-pound bombs. These included three demolition bombs and one incendiary bomb or "Molotov breadbasket."

A few planes carried only incendiary bombs.

TWO PRISONERS BEING HUNTED

(International News Service)

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., April 23.—A search of the Folsom prison grounds and surrounding area was made today for two long-term convicts missing from their cells at last night's final checkup.

The missing men are Frank Pedrini, serving life and two concurrent sentences for a holdup murder, and William Smith, serving two long terms for robbery.

The two escaped through a ventilator sometime between 8 and 11 p. m. Their absence was not discovered until after the convicts had returned from the prison theater.

Warden Clyde Palmer said he believed the men had not yet been able to get outside the walls enclosing the vast Folsom grounds.

Two airlines are now operating out of Seville, Spain.

FOOD PRODUCTION PROGRAM BRIEFED

Fulkman Explains How Payments Will Be Made And Prices Assured In War Effort

Funds for the 1943 farm program have been assured, and the program has been definitely established, according to Dorris L. Fulkman, chairman of the Lawrence county AAA committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Consisting of three parts, the AAA program is designed to help farmers achieve their food production goals, he said, and to help them maintain the productivity of their farms. The program consists of payments for soil building and conservation practices, payments for farm acreage adjustments of wheat, tobacco and corn, and payments for increasing production of potatoes and fresh truck crops.

With a price support program for major farm crops, in addition, farmers can look forward to a profitable year, he said, and be able to cooperate fully to achieve the "war crop" and other farm goals vitally important in the war effort.

A support price for soybeans grown in 1943 has been established at $1.80 per bushel on yellow beans produced for beans and that have moisture content not higher than 14 per cent. Premiums and discounts will be paid according to quality.

On potatoes, the government will offer to buy U. S. No. 1's this September in 100 lb sacks at $2.10 per hundredweight f. o. b. cars. The support price will be increased in December to $2.25 per hundred; in February next year through April, to $2.40 per hundred.

Farmers are now being mailed their "war crop" goals determined for their farms, he explained, as a result of findings from the farm-to-farm visits by AAA community committeemen and the size of the county goals.

Production payments will be paid farmers on their 1943 crops of potatoes and fresh vegetables, he said. The potato payment will be at the rate of 50 cents per bushel of the normal yield for each acre planted between 90 and 110 per cent of the farm potato goal. The fresh vegetable payment of $50 will be made for each acre of vegetables planted between 90 and 110 per cent of the farm vegetable goal. Included in the latter are carrots, snap beans, lima beans, beets, tomatoes, cabbage, onions and green peas. Payments will be made to farmers only if they have planted at least 90 per cent of their "war crop" goals.

Victory Gardeners Form Organization

Edgewood Acres Group Gets Ready To Help Uncle Sam On Home Front

Twenty-two Victory Gardeners were present or represented at a meeting held Thursday evening in the home of Richard E. Rentz of Fairfield avenue, and made plans to get started on their garden project as soon as weather conditions become favorable.

Kenneth H. Beck, district plant manager of the Bell Telephone Co., was elected chairman, and Fred M. Alexander, treasurer, when an organization was formed to take care of any problems which might arise in connection with the project.

Plans have been completed to have the ground plowed, and limed, and those present drew for places in the plot.

Four, who had previously signed up, were not represented at the meeting, and their places will be held until Monday. If they do not notify the committee of their intentions to take part in the garden project by that time, their places will be turned over to others who are on the waiting list.

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS BEING SOUGHT

Man Is Struck Last Night On Moravia Street By Driver Who Didn't Stop

Police today were searching for another hit-run motorist—the one who drove a car which struck and injured George Evans, of 723 South Mill street, at Furnace and Moravia streets at 10:55 p. m. Thursday. One week ago Tuesday night a hit-and-run motorist's car fatally injured Mrs. Elizabeth McLaughlin of Reis street.

After being struck by the auto, Evans was hurried in a police ambulance summoned by Patrolman George Haering to the New Castle hospital where it was learned the victim was not seriously hurt. Evans was enroute home from his employment at the Standard Steel Springs company when injured.

Patrol Haering reported to headquarters he was standing at Home and Moravia streets when he heard a thud and scraping sound. He saw an auto drive rapidly away and found Evans lying unconscious in the street. The scraping sound was made by the car passing over the victim's lunch pail.

The patrolman said the car was too far away and traveling too fast for him to obtain the license number. However, as it sped south he noticed it was a Chevrolet with black wire wheels and carried a spare wire wheel on the rear.

Evans has regained consciousness and may be discharged from the hospital today.

Council Thanks YWCA For Clothing

Clothing Sent By International Institute To Seamen At Ellis Island

The Y.W.C.A. has had an enthusiastic letter of thanks from the Common Council for American Unity, for the clothing which the International Institute sent to stranded seamen of the United Nations at Ellis Island.

These seamen have had their ships torpedoed and have lost all their clothing. According to the present U. S. Immigration laws, they must stay on Ellis Island until they can find service on boats of foreign registry. There is urgent need for warm clothing for these seamen which the International Institute was able to alleviate through the aid of the Bundles for America and Y.W.C.A. Board members. They collected 10 overcoats, 20 suit coats, 59 pants, 26 vests, 11 pairs of shoes, 5 belts, 1 suit, 2 sweaters, 1 wool cap and 30 shirts.

Miss Marian Schibsby of the Common Council for American Unity sent the letter of thanks.

The International Institute Committee paid a sizeable bill for express for the clothing through the sale of paper products.

STRIKE IN CANADA

(International News Service)

WINDSOR, Ont., April 23.—All material production in three Ford Motor company plants in Windsor halted completely today after a strike of UAW-CIO employes over an alleged "speed-up" order.

The employes walked from the jobs, leaving approximately 15,000 others idle.

Across the Detroit river, in Detroit, four other strikes had been settled. They involved three creameries and a war plant.

Bermuda Delegates Discuss Specific Refugee Problems

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 23.—Specific and delicate problems in the task of rescuing thousands of war victims made homeless by the Axis were up for discussion today by delegates to the Anglo-American Refugee Conference.

One of the subjects under debate was whether Hitler should be asked to consent to an orderly exodus of refugees from Axis-dominated countries, possibly in exchange for prisoners of war. Another topic on the agenda was the possibility of lifting the blockade of Europe sufficiently to get food supplies to the persecuted.

Babson Gives Warning To All Wage Earners

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 23—In 1929 when stocks were selling eight times present prices I told investors that these prices could not possibly hold up and that a price collapse was ahead. It surely came with a bang. In a few months prices dropped 80 per cent and in two years all the banks were closed with ten million unemployed.

BABSON

Today the situation is exactly reversed. It is true that the stock market has gone up a little since 1932. The averages, which then stood at 27, now are about 80; but this is far from the high of 265 in 1929. If, however, the newspapers would publish the wage averages, the same as they publish the stock averages, what would they show? I'll tell you they should scare every munition worker stiff.

Hence I want to talk to members of the AFofL and the C.I.O. the same as I talked to investors in 1929. You munition workers are today just where your employers were in 1929. You are headed for just as much of a licking as they got. Your labor leaders are blinding you to the real facts now the same as Wall Street bankers blinded your employers 14 years ago this very month and day.

Millions Will Be Unemployed When War Stops

Twenty million people are now engaged in war work. Some day this war will suddenly stop. Admiral Halsey is reported to have said it will end this year; but I don't believe it will end until after elections in November, 1944. Whenever it does end there will be an awful crash in the union labor market, the same as there was in the stock market in 1929. Millions of union labor will quickly be thrown out of work. Those getting the highest wages will be dropped first. There will then be a job panic and a job depression and all kinds of job troubles. Moreover, this labor panic could take place with increasing commodity prices, greater real estate activity and even higher stock prices.

The politicians may say this will not happen. They may say that the government will give employment if private companies will not do so. Perhaps this will be tried; but if so, the government will not pay the wages—no, nor half the wages—that war workers are now getting. No government could continue in office which paid any special group of ex-war workers more than letter-carriers, policemen and other government employees get. This averages $35 per week for men and $25 per week for women as "tops". Union war workers are now having a reckless, riotout and crazy honeymoon.

Beware of Political Promises

Then think of this:—If the government takes over factories to make shoes, or textiles or motor cars so as to give ex-war workers jobs, how is the government going to sell the shoes, clothing, textiles or autos? There is only one way and that is by cutting prices below what regular manufacturers are charging. This would mean that these private manufacturers would need to shut down and throw their employees out of work. Hence, the "cure" would be worse than the disease. The politicians would only be "robbing Peter to pay Paul". For every vote they might get from the war workers, they would lose two votes from peacetime workers and returning soldiers.

In the above calculations I have said nothing about these ten million soldiers who will be returning home. They will have 60 days to return to their old jobs; but they have been given no promise about wages. This is another reason why the present employers paying higher wages for war workers will be compelled to let these war workers go after peace is declared. The only way most employers can take back former employees, who were drafted into the services, will be by discharging those who have stayed home cashing in at high wages, while their brothers suffered hell in the South Sea islands for fifty dollars per month.

Higher Wages Now Mean More Grief Later

I repeat that all you war workers are now living in a fool's paradise. No labor leaders nor politicians can prevent a terrible crash in the labor market after World War II. Furthermore, the higher John L. Lewis and the railroad unions push up wages now, the greater the fall will be and the more grief after peace comes. Will the United States, after peace comes, use any more coal than was used in 1939? No! Miners must again then go back to three days a week. Will the railroads, after peace comes, haul any more freight than they did in 1939? No—not so much! Hence, after World War II great unemployment will exist among coal and railroad workers.

I believe in labor unions the same as I believe in corporations. To have workable unions, they also must have well-paid officials the same as do successful corporations. My message this week is simply this: These union labor officials are as blind to present wage conditions today as were the corporation officials blind to business conditions in 1929. These labor leaders are leading their union members for a terrible fall and disappointment the same as the corporation officials led their stockholders to disaster in 1929. I hope every war worker now getting high wages will cut this article and paste it on his wife's mirror to read from now until the war ends!

What War Worker Should Now Do

What can you as a war worker do about it? You can't be blamed for now taking what you are now getting; but you can do three things which will help you and your family after the war ends:

1. You can do more and better work every day. This will keep down prices and make it unnecessary for the government to borrow so much money.

2. You can stop asking for higher wages and thus avoid making the returning soldiers any uglier when they do return than they would be if they came back now.

3. You can save every cent possible now for the days—after the war—when you'll be out of work. The cost of living has not advanced more than 20 per cent. Keep your expenses down to what they were before the war, plus 20 per cent. Save the rest by putting it in the savings bank or war bonds. I say this as your best friend.

The "roaring forties" is a sailor's term for the seas between 40 and 50 degrees north and south of the Equator. It is applied particularly to the part of the Atlantic Ocean which lies in the forties, as it is a stormy region.

RECALLS SNOWFALL OF 61 YEARS AGO TODAY

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, April 23.—D. L. Forrest, of this city, recalls that on this date 61 years ago the district was blanketed by a snowfall that was three feet deep on the level. He recalls as a boy that he captured a number of rabbits that had broken through the slight crust on the snow and could not escape.

Tortoises found on the Galapagos Islands weigh up to 400 pounds.

PLANS MEETING FOR SOLDIERS' RELATIVES

Harley Shoaff, local World War veteran, stated today that a meeting for the mothers, wives, and daughters of men now in the service, will take place on Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock, under the auspices of the Lawrence County World War Veterans.

Advice will be given on matters which will be of benefit to these men now in service, Shoaff states.

German Air Power Wanes

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service
Foreign Editor

Almost unbelievable deterioration of the German air force in the face of Allied superiority on far-flung battle-fronts was emphasized in dispatches from the fighting areas today.

Two announcements in particular furnished incontrovertible proof that the days when the luftwaffe was a formidable engine of war circulated to strike fear in the hearts of democracy now have receded into history.

One was a communique issued by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in North Africa revealing that another 20 of Nazi Germany's giant, lumbering six-motored transports were shot out of the skies by Allied craft while en route to Tunisia with full loads of gasoline and personnel.

The other was a statement from headquarters of the European theatre of operations disclosing that United States heavy bombers destroyed the record number of 63 enemy fighting planes in an unescorted raid on the Focke-Wulf aircraft plant near Bremen last Saturday.

The previous record for enemy planes destroyed by unescorted Allied bombers in a single undertaking was 52 German craft definitely disposed of on March 18, when Flying Fortresses raided the U-boat yards at Vegesack on the North Sea.

The state of Iowa was named for a Sioux Indian tribe, the Ioways or Alaouez, or Alaounas. The word means "sleepy ones." They call themselves "Pahoja," gray snow.

CAMPS CAN GET FOOD
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The OPA ruled today that summer camps, such as those operated for Boy Scout troops, may apply to local rationing boards for rationed foods in advance to meet their seasonal requirements.

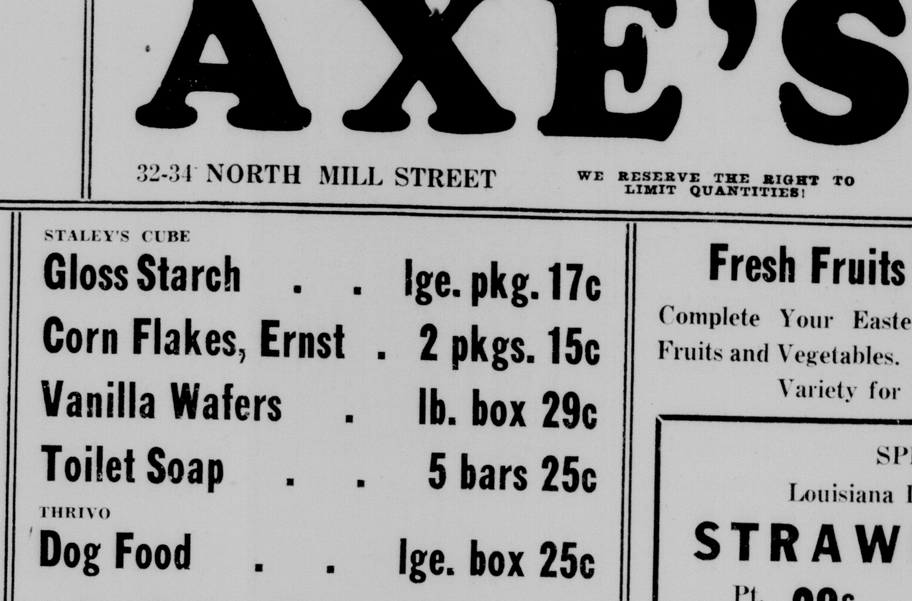

These "loans" must be repaid later with stamps or certificates surrendered by the guests or campers, the OPA said.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Former U. S. Senator George Wharton Pepper conceded today that as many as 150,000 to 200,000 unqualified voters may be on Philadelphia's registration lists.

But, he argued, at a hearing before the state supreme court, the five members of the bipartisan registration commission are powerless to correct the situation because of wartime shifts in population, legislative oversights and an inadequate staff.

Pepper is acting as attorney for the commissioners in an attempt to obtain a writ to halt an April grand jury investigation.

WAR PUBLICITY PROBE EXTENDED

Senate Committee To Look Into Many Features Of Propaganda And Information

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Senate judiciary committee's inquiry into war publicity and propaganda today was broadened to cover the entire, vast scope of government public relations in connection with the war effort.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., in charge of the probe, said that it will go far beyond the initial examination of the office of war information.

"I think we should look into the methods under which both the war and navy departments operate," said O'Mahoney. "We should call Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Knox and other officials of these departments before us.

"We want to get a clear picture of how information regarding the war is handled by all of these agencies, both with a view to consideration of appropriations or any legislation."

Seek To Know Why.

The committee, it was indicated, will seek to determine whether there is any conflict between Elmer Davis, OWI director, and the armed services over methods of informing the public.

One member of the judiciary committee, who declined to be quoted, complained of the navy observing the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor by disclosing the extent of the damage and making such a "splurge" on the air raid on Tokyo a year after it happened.

Meantime, members of a Senate agriculture subcommittee prepared for blow-swapping between Davis and Rubber Director William M. Jeffers, who are expected to appear before the subcommittee on Monday to air their differences over the rubber program.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D) Iowa, chairman of the subcommittee, received word from Davis that he was anxious to appear and explain the OWI report on rubber, which was far more pessimistic than one given by Jeffers.

Jeffers vigorously criticized the OWI report, which indicated little hope for any civilian relief until 1944.

The fight over the rubber program grew hotter yesterday when Undersecretary of War Patterson, reportedly backed by Petroleum Administrator Ickes, was quoted as charging that Jeffers' victory in obtaining priority for his synthetic rubber program was hampering production of high octane gasoline and causing combat planes to be grounded.

$60,000 In Bonds

Sixty thousand dollars have been authorized for war bonds by the county commissioners and the sinking fund board of the county. On Thursday the sinking fund committee consisting of County Commissioners William R. Walton, and Joseph F. Travers, County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer and County Controller Frank W. Hill decided to buy $30,000 worth of bonds to be put into the sinking fund committee, to provide for road bond payments in 1946.

Meeting as county commissioners Mr. Walton and Mr. Travers then decided to put $30,000 of the Institutional Fund money into bonds, making $60,000 in all.

The money from the general fund had to go into the sinking fund inasmuch as there are still some road bonds outstanding. There are no bonds against the institutional district and hence no sinking fund. In the previous drive the sinking fund committee purchased $56,000 worth of bonds, making a total of $116,000 the county now has in war bonds.

REPAIRS NEEDED

Now that the weather is warming, the repairs which have been needed at the county home will be made soon it is anticipated. A number of the pipes under the ground need replacing due to the fact they were placed in ashes, according to the county commissioners. A test will be made to ascertain how many pipes need replacing.

BRIDGE REPAIRS NEEDED

A number of the bridges owned by the county need repairs it is said by the county commissioners. A recent survey showed the need of replanking on some of them, while others need new decks entirely. Grant street is an example of this type. Holes in the paving on the bridge make traffic hazardous.

Atlantic City Air Station Is Ready

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 23—Amidst the pomp and circumstances of military ceremony, Atlantic City's $8,000,000 Naval air station will be commissioned tomorrow.

The newest link in the Navy's rapidly-expanding chain of major air bases will be officially placed in operation when Lt. Cmdr. William J. Junkerman, prospective commanding officer, reads his orders and the colors are run up.

Unlike some other service centers in the Atlantic City area, the naval air station will be entirely self-contained and complete. It will include barracks, mess hall, administration buildings, recreation hall, dispensary, warehouses and hangars.

It was developed on the site originally selected for a municipal airport by Atlantic City authorities. Early clearing and grading of the 1,300 acre area was begun as a works projects administration program.

AROUND CITY HALL

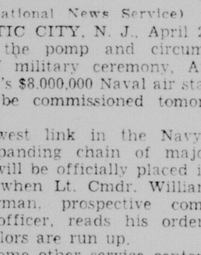

Two eight-year-old boys were said by police to have set on fire a garage which burned down at 1215 Finch street yesterday. It was owned by Mrs. Fred McKee, according to city police who learned the boys had caused the fire.

Police yesterday conducted an investigation into the knocking down by an auto of a telephone pole at East and North streets and has ordered the operator who reportedly drove the car, into police traffic court Sunday.

Bad spots in Sherman street which was paved last fall were being removed and concrete poured again, according to City Engineer John Z. Street.

Cornice brace on a property at 127 North Mercer street fell off yesterday, police reported. . . Fourteen persons paid fines for violating parking laws here yesterday. . . . Sam Caruso, Hamilton street, who reported his car stolen yesterday found it near his home, police were told.

Appeal To Dog Owners To Keep Canines Tied Up

Regulations Will Be Enforced, Investigator Howard McClure States

Dog owners in Lawrence county who have any regard for their pets and also for the rights of other citizens are appealed to by Dog Law Investigator Howard E. McLure to keep their dogs tied up, until the present rabies scare is over and until the gardening season ends.

Allegheny county is now going through one of the worst rabies epidemics ever experienced, with 17 cases reported. Two cases have also occurred in Lawrence county, and the danger is not past.

Mr. McLure also pointed out that the government has asked Pennsylvania citizens to put in 400,000 victory gardens in the state, and that dogs running at large can cause considerable damage to this worthwhile war effort.

Where dogs running at large are proving a nuisance, Mr. McLure urges residents not to hesitate to call the police and constables.

There seems to be a great increase in the number of stray dogs running loose. Since the first of the year, Mr. McLure has shot a large number of these dogs. He warns that wherever violations of the dog laws are found, prosecutions will result.

Ask Farmers To Raise Potatoes

Every Additional 100 Bushels Will Feed 20 Fighting Men For Year

Lawrence county farmers are asked to volunteer to raise enough potatoes in 1943 to feed 15 regiments of soldiers, according to Dorris L. Fulkman, chairman of the Lawrence County AAA committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, explaining that every 100 bushels of potatoes a farmer raises in 1943 will feed 20 fighting men their daily ration of potatoes for a year.

"Every 90 acres of potatoes averaging 150 bushels per acre will feed a regiment of soldiers throughout 1944," he said. "The farmer with 7½ acres of potatoes beyond what he has planned to raise will, with any luck, produce more than enough extra potatoes to feed a company of soldiers for a year."

The government recognizes that in this important food-growing program, he said, farmers will be taking unusual risks. They will be planting in land where there is greater chance of crop failure—where the costs are higher—and may be jeopardizing yields in future years by upsetting soil-building rotations.

To share this unusual risk, the government offers a payment, on these extra acres over 90 per cent of the farm goal, of 50 cents a bushel for the normal yield. No payment is made on acreage beyond 110 per cent of the farm goal. If any farmer feels he can substantially beat his goal, however, the county agricultural conservation committee will be glad to raise it, he said. The committeemen are out to help farmers produce every possible bushel of potatoes.

Mr. Manchester, director of the northeast region says "* * * This money will not be taken out of any appropriations being discussed in congress and which you are reading so much about in the daily paper at the present time."

In addition to this payment, there is a potato price support program. The government will offer to buy U. S. No. 1's this September in 100-lb sacks at $2.10 per hundredweight, f. o. b. cars. The support price will be increased in December to $2.25 per hundredweight; in February next year through April to $2.40 per hundred.

The government is taking all possible steps, he reported, to assure an adequate supply of fertilizer for all the potatoes that farmers will plant. To be sure of the fertilizer, however, farmers should place orders with their dealers immediately. Any apparent shortage of seed should be reported promptly to the AAA county committee.

WHY WE ARE LUCKY TO BE ON RATIONS

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 23.—We are lucky to be rationed, Mrs. Conway Zirkle, chairman, advisory committee on consumer interests, State Council of Defense, told an audience at the Pennsylvania State college.

Rationing means that there is enough for everyone and that everyone will have enough, she said, in pointing out that it is only in countries which have sufficient food for their population that rationing succeeds.

WAR AGAINST TOO EARLY PLANTING OF TENDER VEGETABLES

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 23.—Victory gardeners were urged not to waste plants and seeds of tender vegetables by planting them before the danger of killing frosts has passed.

The state defense council's victory garden committee stated that in most localities the average date of the last killing frost is not reached until sometime in May.

"To play safe," it was explained, "gardeners should not plant sweet corn, string beans or pumpkins until about a week after this date, and other tender vegetables should be held back about two weeks."

Japan Seeks To Defend Atrocities

Brands As Absurd Contention Enemy Prisoners In Uniform Get Consideration

(International News Service)

TOKYO, April 23.—(By Official Japanese Wireless)—The Japanese government today branded as "absurd and groundless" all contentions that enemy prisoners captured in uniform should be given special consideration.

Finally admitting receipt of a United States Government protest against execution of some of the American fliers who bombed Tokyo a year ago, the Japanese Bureau of Information reiterated its claim they had "wantonly committed inhuman acts."

"All of the captured fliers," a statement said, "were tried by court martial and sentenced to death when their guilt had been clearly proved. Most of them, however, had the death sentence reconsidered and only part of them were executed."

The bureau of information took the stand that by sentencing the fliers, the purpose of "reducing the horrors of war as much as possible" had been served.

(Editor's Note: The Japanese allegation that Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's fliers purposely bombed hospitals, schools and other non-military objectives have been completely blasted by first-hand reports by the participants. These disclosed they even passed up such legitimate objectives as an aircraft carrier sighted in Tokyo Bay, concentrating all their efforts against targets selected for them weeks before the raid took place. Photographs published in the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri show definitely the American planes flew so low no objective could possibly have been mistaken.)

American Ship Sunk In March

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., April 23.—One crew member was killed but the remaining 54 persons aboard escaped when a torpedo sank a medium-sized American merchant vessel early in March about 40 miles off the northeast coast of South America, it was revealed today.

Has a Lorentzen, chief mate, said the torpedo blast sent a hatch cover hurtling through the air, striking and killing one crew member. Lorentzen's home is in Garden Grove, Calif.

The other crew members took to lifeboats and were picked up later by a naval vessel and taken to a South American port. The ship's master, Capt. Herbert G. Gregg, and several members of the crew remained in the South American port but are expected to return to the United States soon.

SEATS AND BERTHS FOR TWO MILLION A MONTH!

THE rate at which the railroads are now moving men of the armed forces is about 2,000,000 a month. In addition, they are carrying thousands of soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen traveling on leave.

In no war in which this country has ever engaged have the railroads been called upon to move so many troops—to so many places—and so many times. For example, in the last war a soldier was moved an average of two trips between the time he entered service and went abroad. Now, the average is about six trips—because modern warfare is more technical, calls for more extensive training.

So a tremendous amount of passenger equipment is constantly in service transporting military and naval personnel. On the Pennsylvania Railroad alone, over 800 coaches—or more than a third of the railroad's entire coach equipment—are engaged daily in moving troops. Yes, and a great many of its Pullman cars also.

Naturally, this cuts down materially the number of seats and berths available for civilian travel, in addition to creating other problems for the railroads. But everybody realizes there is a war to be won—and the equipment must go to those who are winning it.

So what's the public doing?

Exactly what you'd expect any American to do—cooperating in every way possible with the railroads to see that the war effort suffers in no way. Taking occasional inconveniences or lateness understandingly, thoughtfully cancelling at once accommodations that can't be used, promptly vacating seats in dining cars on finishing meals, taking aboard only one bag—helping in many ways. And for this the Pennsylvania Railroad—every railroad, in fact—is deeply appreciative.

Delegations From Armed Forces Represent United States, Great Britain, Holland And Fighting French; Ewell, Dixon, Rice, Price, Vessie And Marcom Among Contestants; To Run Off 68 Events During Two-Day Classic.

By AL FUNCH

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 23.—The elite of the track world—2,500 strong—swarmed over Franklin Field in Philadelphia today for the first session of the 49th running of the star spangled university of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

In addition to the 400 colleges which will be represented at the two-day meet, there will be delegations from the armed forces of the United States and—in a special United Nations event—from Great Britain, Holland and the fighting French.

Service Men Entered

As in all other happenings in this war-torn world, the military stepped into a place of prominence. Fresh from their respective camps came Eulace Peacock, former Temple star, who competes for the Manhattan Beach Coast Guards this year; Barney Ewell, ex-Penn Stater, and former NYU freshman Frank Dixon carry the banner of Camp Lee, Va., while Major Chester Cruickshank represents Camp Pickett, Va., instead of Colorado.

The war also made itself felt in

Major Hitters Are Stupified; Ball Fools 'Em

"Murder, They Say"; Twirlers Laff As They Post 3 More Shutouts

BUCS, INDIANS ON LOSING END

By JOHN CASHMAN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 23—Somebody who is qualified to do an autopsy ought to see what is wrong with the 1943 baseball.

If some kind soul did investigate the death of the ball, a great favor would be done to the batters who, in six games yesterday were the victims of three shutouts to add to the four achieved the day before, making a total of seven in ten games.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals have been blanked twice. After losing, 1 to 0, in 11 innings in their opening game with the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, the Cards repeated the performance by the same score yesterday, in 10 innings. Ray Starr held the Cards to 5 hits, and issued no walks, while second-sacker Lonnie Frey busted up his second straight game, scoring on a subsequent sacrifice and hit after whacking out a single.

Flores Impressive

In another shutout, Pete Fox, Boston Red Sox slugger, lined out a double in the fourth inning to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 1 to 0. A crowd of 4,553 watched Fox spoil a near-perfect game pitched by Jesse Flores who, in his major league debut, allowed only two hits. The A's threatened Tex Hughson, ace Red Sox moundsman, in the sixth and ninth innings, but the long right-hander squeezed out of trouble.

In the third and last shutout of the day, Virgil trucks sparked the Detroit Tigers to a 4 to 0 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Dead ball or alive, the Tigers' Roger Cramer had a perfect day at the plate, getting five for five.

Second baseman Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees hit the only home run of the day in helping his

GIANTS SEND FOUR PLAYERS TO JERSEY

NEW YORK, April 23—New York Giants have released four players to their Jersey city farm, it was announced today.

They are:

Sports Ramblings

Springtime cocktail:---

What's it feel like to step out of the City league and start swinging against big league pitching? Pvt. Al Orlando, starring for Sgt. Hugh Mulcahy's For Jackson 26th Division nine, gives the answer in a letter to his brother, Mike. "Geo. Turbeville, ex-Athletic pitcher, was in the box for Shaw field. Boy, I couldn't see the ball for a while, that's how small it looked. I fanned the first two times," the Seventh ward infielder writes.

Al, who got a trial with Butler, is going great in the Service Men's league down south. Mulcahy, incidentally, ranked as the Phillies' top pitching hand until he joined the armed services. He represents one of the many familiar major and minor league names gracing the various rosters. Alex, Al's brother and a former member of the Moose team, is stationed in Hawaii with the Medical Corps. He, too, is starring on the diamond . . . .

Two of New Castle's better know athletes, Nickie and John Uram, both chief petty officers, are in Bainbridge, Md., and Sampson, N. Y., respectively, their sister, Anna, reports . . . Ed. Connery, sporting goods czar, says that Louisville Slugger bats have been frozen. Maybe that explains all those shutouts in the majors on opening day . . . .

Few short ones:—So training in the north is harmful to pitchers? If opening day is an example of what these chilly northern breezes do to a twirler, moguls are liable to have a tough time trying to convince a chucker to head toward the balmy south, after this mess is cleaned up . . . Tom Byrne, the good looking Yank rookie, represents a $10,000 investment. That's what the southpaw got when he was tossing 'em for Wake Forest. Expenses for staging the last Rose Bowl game amounted to $19,630 . . . .

Men Needed To Plant Pines Here

Men are asked to help plant 10,000 trees Saturday on the Lawrence County Sportsmen association grounds at Harbor bridge. Two troops of Boy Scouts already have consented to help with the work, according to Hans Drio, association secretary. The trees are four year old red pines and were provided by the state. Members of the association will join with those who are not members in the planting.

CHARLEY GILBERT OPTIONED BY CUBS

CHICAGO, April 22.—Outfielder Charley Gilbert has been optioned to Nashville of the Southern Association league by the Chicago Cubs.

Announcement was also made that Pitcher Jonas Berry has been shipped to Milwaukee of the American Association.

JENKINS HOPES TO STOP CHRIS IN ARENA RING

When fistic fans travel into The Arena next Wednesday night to see the police pension fund fights they will witness the brand of battling the fans of Boston seen when the National A. A. U. held their recent tourney because among the battlers carded for action here is Clyde Jenkins banging with Chris Tabor, the Niles middleweight. Clyde is being trained by Johnny Kucar of Uniontown who reports that Jenkins hopes to knock out Matt McGowan's protege.

Jenkins did not win any title in the Boston meet, but he did reach the semi-finals, having fought some of the best middleweights before he succumbed. However, he hasn't any easy foe in Tabor, who demonstrated here recently that he was superior to Roy Crews of Ellwood City, who held the championship at 160 of Lawrence county.

Another amateur sta, the fans will see is Joe Ramer of Niles, who captured the featherweight championship of the Knights of Columbus tourney, which was staged recently in Youngstown. In fact, Ramey showed so splendidly he was awarded the McKelvey trophy for being the most promising fighter in the tournament and that is no mean honor as tourney fans will attest.

The docket which will include 16 fighters contains boxers and sluggers and with the Nulphs from Pulaski and Emil Cannell of this city among them, fans will have a home flavor to the pugilistic dish to be served.

From the Minors

WALLACE HEBERT, southpaw flinger of the Pittsburgh Pirates, comes back to the major leagues after a 10-year absence. Hebert, who won 22 games for San Diego last season, was with the St. Louis Browns in 1931-33. He has been pitching for San Diego for the last seven seasons. Hebert, two inches over six feet tall, is 35 years old. He has been impressive in Pirate camp. (International)

'DEAD" BALL STIRS LANDIS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 23.—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis came to the rescue of the hitless major leaguers today with the announcement he would get busy immediately on the problem of breathing some life into the "dead' ball which the season started.

He was spurred to action by the telegram of Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, asking for a special meeting of the three-man committee which prescribed the specifications for the 1943 ball. Giles asserted the ball did not meet the specifications.

Landis doubted the wisdom of the special meeting, saying: "If the ball isn't up to specifications, then it is a problem for the manufacturers and the adjustment will have to be made by them."

SEVEN-FOOT JUMP COULD BE REACHED BY COLUMBIA ACE

Bill Vessie, Track Newcomer, Is Competing In Philly's Penn Relay

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA.—The seven-foot high jump, one of the greatest goals of field and track, will be attained some day by Bill Vessie, Columbia University, experts believe.

Vessie, who is in the 49th annual University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival, is a newcomer to track but has already startled spectators this year with jumps that are edging closer and closer to the seven-foot goal.

The blonde star had a record of two six-foot seven-inch leaps before he entered the K. of C. meet in New York not long ago, and in that meet he beat out Pvt. Joshua Williamson with a jump of 6.8.

Dixie Handicap Shares Spotlight With Derby Race

Whirlaway Has Tough Field To Beat In Annual Pimlico Feature

APACHE RETURNS; ALSAB NOT ENTERED

By LOU BINDMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 23.—The Kentucky Derby will not be the only race holding the spotlight when May 1 rolls around.

The historic Dixie Handicap will share the beam, as it comes up for decision at the famed old Pimlico track in Maryland.

Whirly Entered

A galaxy of outstanding turf stars has been named for the mile and three-sixteenths number, including none other than Whirlaway, the champ himself.

Whirly took down last year's running of the Dixie and will attempt to score a double, something which has not been successfully done since Sarazen accomplished the feat in 1925 and 1926.

Apache Returns

But there's that Belair Stud horse, Apache, who may mold things entirely to his own way.

That highly formidable pair of Valdina Orphan and Rounders is again named as a team for the Dixie.

All together, total of thirty-two horses is named for the Dixie. Two that are conspicuous by their absence are Alsab and Shut Out, but both are reportedly being reserved for later events.

A few of the other powerful nominees are Mioland, Attention, Tola Rose, Thumbs Up, Our Boots, Boysy and Dit.

MAJOR HITTERS ARE STUPIFIED

teammates defeat the Washington Senators, 5 to 4.

Bucs Nosed Out

Another relief pitcher, Eddie Hanyzewski, who took over in the seventh inning where Claude Passeau left off, pushed the Chicago Cubs to a 4 to 3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Passeau, the starter, was hit for five runs, three of them in the seventh, and after Hanyzewski took over, the Bucs went without a bingle.

Before one of the smallest opening day crowds to sprinkle Ebbets Field stands in years, 16,775, the Brooklyn Dodgers handed the New York Giants and an assortment of pitchers a 5 to 2 pounding. Ed Head went the whole route for the Dodgers, allowing six hits.

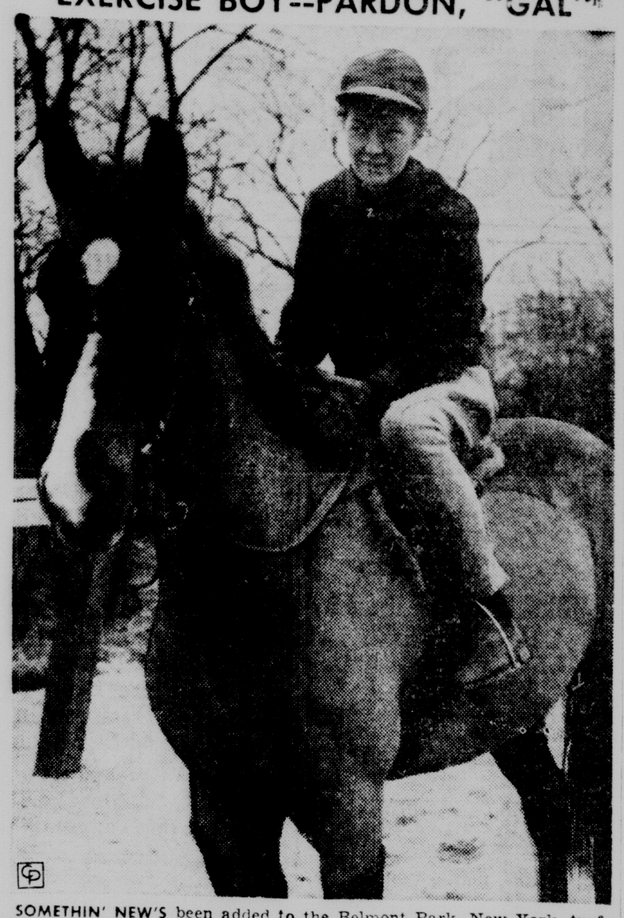

The crowds yesterday were miserably small. In addition to the huddled knots of people that watched the Yanks-Nats, Dodgers-Giants and Red Sox-A's games, all of 1,897 were on hand to see the Reds-Cards fray; 2,500 watched the Tigers and Indians; the Pirates and Cubs drew 3,325.

This is a total of 34,910, an average of a little over 5,800 per game. The gray skies, cold winds, small crowds and the dead, dead ball have made it a dreary season opening indeed.

ROOKIE STANDOUT

WILMINGTON, Del.—Ornie Arntzen, who won seven of eight starts for Williamsport in the Eastern League a year ago, may be one of the starting pitchers for the Philadelphia Athletics this year. He looked good in turning back the Toronto club yesterday with one hit in three innings.

Body To Recognize Undisputed Crowns; Montgomery In Good Spot

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 23.—The National Boxing association, in releasing its quarterly ratings today, revealed that it is keeping open the lightweight championship for the winner of a bout between Sammy Angott, Washington, Pa., and Beau Jack, Augusta, Ga., current holder of the New York commission 135-pound title.

President Abe J. Greene announced that the NBA will adhere to its policy of recognizing only those champions whose claims to titles are undisputed. This includes those champions who have gone into the armed service; their titles are now regarded as "frozen" for the duration by the NBA.

Pair Storm Centers

Angott and Jack were the storm centers of a few months ago as a battle between the New York commission and the NBA. Angott retired as lightweight champ, claiming injuries to his hands. A bout between Jack and Tippy Larkin, New Jersey, was sanctioned as a lightweight title fight, Jack winning the New York version of the championship by a knockout. The NBA then refused to recognize the title.

If Bob Montgomery, of Philadelphia, whips Beau Jack in their Madison Square Garden bout May 21, he will be recognized as rating the shot at Angott for an undisputed title bout. Until then, Jack, according to the NBA, is the leading contender.

Few changes have taken place since the last ratings. The most important is that affecting Sal Bartola, Boston, who moved up to a position near the top in the featherweight ranks by virtue of his split decision loss to Willie Pep. Pep, Hartford, Conn.

Boots 'Em Home

RUNNER-UP for top riding honors on the nation's race tracks last year, Steve Brooks, above, has dashed out in front of the jockey parade this year with a successful campaign at the New Orleans Fair Grounds. Brooks, now at Jamaica, New York, booted in 189 winners in '42. (International)

SEWELL WORRIES

Manager Luke Sewell, of the Browns, is worrying about John Niggeling, veteran pitcher who won 15 games in 1943. A stomach ailment has Niggeling far under weight.

powder loading plants, two synthetic rubber plants and a shipyard.

These workers are getting wartime wages and are spending freely. Those in the first and third shifts can witness the Derby, which is run late in the afternoon, without being absent from their work.

Count Fleet, Mrs. John Hert's sensational three-year-old, continued the hottest sort of a favorite in spite of the cut received on its left hind foot in the running of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica last Saturday.

Warren Wright's Ocean Wave was rated next to Count Fleet in favoritism today as a result of his victory in the Blue Grass stakes.

MARCHILDON TOPS

Phil Marchildon, the Athletics' hurler, won 17 games for the eighth-place Philadelphia club, topped every hurler in the circuit for games won by one run, scoring 11 such victories distributed as follows: Chicago, 4; Detroit, 2; Boston, 2; St. Louis, 2; and Cleveland 1. Eight of these victories were complete games. He was beaten only twice during the year by one run.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Pvt. Ben (Evil Eye) Finkle now is in the corner of the Army Air Forces at Scott Field, Ill. Evil Eye has successfully conducted a war of nerves for more than 200 pugs, among them Jim Braddock when the Cinderella Man beat Maxie Baer for the heavyweight championship. Finkle has been optical propaganda chief for fighters since 1931 when he put the hex on Joe Knight, heavyweight champion of the South, and accounted (says Evil Eye) for Spike Webb's victory over Knight. Evil Eye, always a master of logic, explains his enlistment at Scott Field thus: "You could have knocked me over with a herring when the conductor said that we were only 20 miles from St. Louis. You see, I was born in St. Louis and haven't been home for almost 15 years."

Cpl. Horton Smith, golf's famed Joplin Ghost, is at an Air Forces Officer Candidate school at Miami Beach, not far from courses over which he scored notable triumphs. In 1929 he won the La Gorce $5,000 Open; in 1933 he and Paul Runyan won the International Four-ball; and in 1935 he won first money of $2,500 at the Miami-Biltmore Open.

Pvt. Cheung Wong, of Keesler Field, 36-year-old former Chinese table tennis star, won a recent weekly ping pong tournament at the Beach USO club in Biloxi, Miss. Private Wong played table tennis at the Christian University in Canton, China, 17 years ago.

Pvt. Joe Jarrett, former Detroit U. and New York Celtics cage star and ex-Canadian-American league baseballer, has been selected by players in the Columbia Army Air Base basketball league as the finest ball-handler in the league's personnel.

Ex-Cardinal Enos Slaughter is at Randolph Field, Tex., but as a cadet won't be eligible to play for the West Point of the Air in the San Antonio Service league schedule of 63 games.

Milt Galatzer, former Indian outfielder, is at Camp Davis (N. C.) Anti-Aircraft center learning how to field enemy planes with guns.

Pvt. Harley E. Shoaff, jr., formerly of West Washington street, who is now stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark., is in the hospital there owing to some eye trouble. Before he left for the army Shoaff fought in an amateur bout in The Arena and with his opponent "stole the show."

other ways. Whereas there were 74 events in 1942, there are but 68 this year—24 of them today. By bus and train, caravans of blue-blooded trackmen swept over the campus in last-minute arrivals. Contrary to pre-war practice, not a single squad arrived ahead of schedule to familiarize itself with the Quaker field.

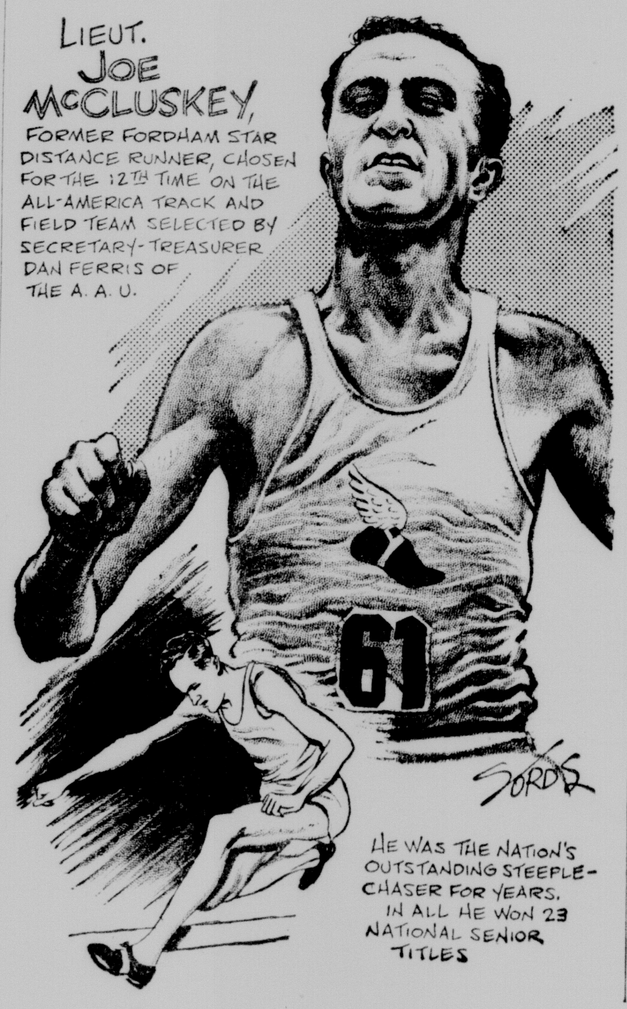

Perhaps the greatest feature of the meet will be the two-mile race tomorrow afternoon in which barrel-chested Greg Rice, Notre Dame alumnus now running for the New York A. C., will compete against a field of six for his 65th consecutive victory.

Price Busy Guy

Harry Price, one of the two remaining members of last year's Indiana track squad that won the four-mile and the distance medley championships, will be one of the busiest athletes on the field today and tomorrow. The Hoosier middle distance runner will be a member of the sprint and the distance medley teams this afternoon and is scheduled for the 880, one mile and two-mile events tomorrow.

Columbia's Bill Vessie was expected to better his mark of six feet eight and one-eighth inches during the indoor season in the high jump while Notre Dame's Dick Marcom was expected to equal if not better his 53-foot shot put.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Edgewood Acres Victory Gardeners got together last evennig and made their final plans for the planting season . . . 26 garden plots, 50x115 make up this group of gardens. It's still early in the season but plans should be made by all so that when it comes time to plant . . . no delay will take place. By the way . . . 4 men who requested garden space were absent last evening . . . these men will receive postal cards asking of their intentions . . . please reply promptly as there is a waiting list for garden space.

* * *

This is good Friday . . . that means that Easter is just around the corner . . . In many lands today Easter won't mean very much . . . and in a land where the Bible is forgotten they are suffering terribly. We should all take time to attend a church service this Coming Sunday, Easter, and make a prayer for our men who are on the battle fronts . . . remembering there is a being greater than mere man.

* * *

What does a boy do after he has been cooped up for a month or more in an Army Camp . . . of course their reactions differ but upon reliable information from Texas we find that some of them go into town and rent an auto . . . and they drive that auto for as many as ten hours per day. The gas situation must be a little different there than here as a Service Man here sometimes has difficulty getting enough gas to visit his relatives . . . The way we look at it, the law says no gas for "just running around" but if we had anything to do with giving gas to service men, they would get all the law would stand for trips. Who gives more than the Soldier or Sailor or Marine?

* * *

When you are down town and are near the diamond please don't walk over the grass . . . Owen Fox has been working years on this little park and many back breaking hours of his time has been spent trying to make your city look beautiful . . . co-operate with him this summer in keeping it beautiful. You wouldn't want a lot of people walking all over your lawn and flower beds. The "white liners" who repose on the public benches should be shooed away and for good.

* * *

Don't forget to buy your war bond . . . an extra bond . . . it might be the one that will shave Hitler away from his "cookie duster".

Ellwood Passes Goal In War Bond Drive

ELLWOOD CITY, April 23.—Ellwood City's men, manpower, munitions and money have gone to war, and now those four M's have been substantially backed up by more money. Thursday, Ellwood City went over the top on the Second War Loan campaign, and in so doing was one of the first communities in the nation to reach its goal.

Chairman, R. Charles Stiefel, announced that $585,000 worth of war bonds have been sold to date, and that amount is $15,000 over the regular quota set by the United States Treasury department for the city.

The original quota set for Ellwood City was $750,000 which was $70,000 more than the first War Loan Drive held last December, in which Ellwood City exceeded its quota by $220,000.

Set New Goal

Not content with just reaching the goal, and upon hearing of the horrible execution of United States flyers who raided Tokyo last year, the campaign officials went into a huddle late yesterday afternoon, and set a new war bond goal for Ellwood City of $840,000.

To reach the new goal, Ellwood City patriots who wish to avenge Jap barbarism and German ruthlessness with their dollars must buy $255,000 more of the war bonds by a week from today. Workers in the various wards and outlying district are going to put on a concerted effort to see every home in their territory so that the newly established goal may be reached. The Ellwood City sum also includes, Ellport, Wurtemburg, Park Gate, Wayne and Perry townships, but not any part of Beaver county.

Ends April 30

The deadline for the purchase of war bonds for this campaign ends on the 30 of the month, and it will take the full cooperation of the community to reach the new goal.

County officials are jubilant that Ellwood City has set a new goal—a thing that has never been done before in special war bond campaigns.

Reaching the quota so quickly was aided greatly by a number of large purchases, of course, but what really put the drive across was the buying of smaller bonds by the "Joe Doakes"

Ellwood City industries all have the ten percent deduction plan in operation, and the buying of bonds at this time means that many a family won't emerge on Sunday with new Easter outfits but there's will be an inner satisfaction.

The kind of satisfaction which means that they have done a little more to hasten the day when Tom will again come whistling up the steps, when Dick and Harry fight over the car for their special date, when Joe will gripe about working the "graveyard" shift, when today's horror is a memory to be forgotten as quickly as possible.

SURPLUS GASOLINE SITUATION PROBED

Ickes Representatives Are Making Investigation In Oil City District

ELLWOOD CITY, April 23.—Word has been received here that representatives of Fuel Co-ordinator Ickes office who are investigating the surplus gasoline situation up in the Oil City, Bradford and Franklin district are having their eyes opened.

Mr. Ickes will have to believe the story of his own men and oil men up in that territory as stated yesterday that the ground is still soggy from the gasoline that is being poured back in the ground.

Members of the local delegation that attended the city official gathering held in Mayor Scully's office in Pittsburgh received the following communication from Charlie R. Barber, mayor of Erie.

The following is an authorized release as a result of a meeting attended by Mayors Scully, Whipple and the writer, and responsible federal officials, on Friday, April 16, 1943, in connection with the gasoline situation. The meeting was held in Washington:

"With respect to the variation between western Pennsylvania and other immediately adjacent areas in the amount of gasoline available for civilian rations after military demands are completely satisfied, we are informed that the Petroleum Administration for War is now engaged in detailed studies of both the future supplies of petroleum products which can be made available and the problem of whether an administratively more practical line or buffer zone may be drawn to avoid any possible discrimination within such zone.

"They indicate that they expect these necessary surveys to be completed within a matter of two weeks or less, at which time they will be in position to announce definitely what can be done and the reasons behind the decision.

"They point out that it is absolutely vital that these surveys be accurately made in order that no risks be assumed with respect to providing all of the oil products necessary for our overseas forces and for sustaining war plant production on the east coast at full capacity."

We can report a most satisfactory meeting from the standpoint of our position being recognized as having definite merit. A full discussion was had and it was the feeling of your three representatives that we really accomplished something and are most hopeful of our objectives.
